

North County Cities Oppose Regional Agency

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Members of the North County Council of Cities Thursday voted to oppose establishment of a new regional agency being considered by the State Senate.

The unanimous vote followed a lengthy and, for the most part, lively debate on the subject.

At one point in the discussion on Assemblyman John Knox's proposal (AB 1057) NCCC Chairman James S. O'Connor Jr. (Millbrae) threatened to eject Brisbane Councilman and Jess Salmon if the latter kept interrupting speakers.

The Knox bill, which passed the State Assembly by a healthy margin last month, would set up a 40-member agency with representatives elected by districts to four year terms.

This agency would have the power to involve itself with planning on a regional scale and could levy taxes to support its existence. It would be funded by a tax of five cents on each $100 of assessed valuation of property.

Most officials felt elected representatives to the agency would usurp local government powers and put the people out of touch with local representatives.

They charged the Knox agency

State Sen. Arlen Gregorio says he will support passage of a strong, new regional agency over the protests of local politicians.—See Page 14.

cy would be "another layer of government," Millbrae Councilman Bernard

Esser informed the meeting his council had unanimously voiced support for the Knox bill.

In an effort to have an alternative on the matter of regional government, Daly City councilman Frank Pacelli proposed AB1057 be amended to read that half the board be elected and the other half appointed by districts involved.

Pacelli felt such an amendment would balance the proposed agency better.

His fellow councilmen agreed. A motion asking the Knox bill be amended was passed unanimously.

It was pointed out by several members that the new agency would not absorb any of the six regional agencies except the Metropolitan Transit Committee.

Most vociferous opponent of the Knox bill was Brisbane councilman Julius Stern.

Stern, in a rousing blast at the entire concept of regional government, called Knox's proposal "the first step toward a dictatorship."

He further charged "they're playing politics up there in Sacramento again."

"We'll take responsibility for what happens in our cities. We (in Brisbane) oppose (this bill). We want local government to remain," Stern said.

Some members' wrath turned from the proposed agency to the bill's author—Assemblyman Knox.

"He doesn't even know what he signed," Councilman Stan Farber of Pacifica said.

If the bill passes the Senate and the agency becomes a reality, Councilman Salmon noted, it would set in motion a campaign for the 40 posts.

The county will witness more posters and campaign speeches as candidates vie for the $6,000 per year jobs, Salmon explained.

"Don't take a third layer of government and turn loose a bunch of inexperienced people on the county," Burlingame Councilman R. David Martin, a director of the Association of Bay Area Governments, pleaded.

He too suggested a compromise bill setting up 50-50 elected-appointed representation on the board be adopted by the Legislature.

Firemen in Daly City Seek Strike Sanction

Daly City firemen, unhappy over recent wage and fringe benefits granted them in the new budget, have asked the County Central Labor Council for strike sanction.

The Labor Council is expected to discuss the matter at its Executive Board meeting Friday.

In an unusual turn of events, the City Council Monday night went into closed session to discuss with its staff a request for further talks with firemen's negotiating team members.

The council agreed to have City Manager David Rowe meet and confer with representatives of Local 1817, International Firefighters' Association.

The first meeting was scheduled for yesterday.

In a show of strength, the firefighters' union sent International Staff Representative Stan Gladden, of Washington, D.C., to the Monday night council meeting, along with some 20 off duty firemen.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky said that the law requires the city "meet and confer" with any representative of an employees' group.

"We simply cannot refuse to meet with (the firemen)," Polonsky said.

Polonsky said yesterday that he did not know what area the staff would explore in their Tuesday talks with firemen.

"There were no specifics discussed. The City Manager was asked by the council to meet and confer with employee representatives," Polonsky said.

Firemen were given a 6 1/2 per cent across-the-board increase, as were other miscellaneous city employees. A request for shorter working hours, by adding another shift, was denied.

A New Breed of Cop

San Bruno Attempt to Close a Gap

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno has a new breed of cop.

He's young, street-wise, and he might help close the generation gap.

His job title is Community Service Officer (CSO).

He will spend approximately 50 per cent of his time going into schools (at all age levels) in an attempt to build two-way communication between youth and police.

The other half of his time will be spent doing relief auxiliary police services, such as being traffic officers. He also will work on criminal matters, such as processing reports of abandoned and junk cars and may be used in minor service calls.

The position was created through the efforts of Capt. Bill Cann. He prepared the papers necessary for the city to receive a three-year $70,564 grant to hire seven young men.

Last week Captain Cann began indoctrination sessions. He hand picked the new officers.

Gary Hoskins is 18 and San Francisco-raised. He said his goal is to eventually become a probation officer.

"I want to gain experience," said Hoskins. "This (Community Service Officer) is really a great idea. It means a better understanding and relationship between youth and the police."

Hoskins said many people really don't understand the operation of a police department. "And some police don't know the people," he said.

Richard Castillo, 17-year-old South San Franciscan, said, "This is great. This is my chance. Maybe in the future I can become a cop or a probation officer."

Castillo still has a few credits to pick up before he finishes high school. But he intends to finish. Castillo also has been in trouble with police before, "because of my own ignorance," he said.

When he was told there was an opportunity to go to work in the San Bruno Police Department, he thought he'd be washing cars and cleaning cells.

Castillo said he likes to work with kids, and he knows how they feel being locked up. "I also can tell when someone is giving me a line," he said. "I know their problems because I've experienced them myself. Now I'm going to try to tell the kids what it's like from the other side."

He said the only hang-up ("well, it's not really a hang-up," he admitted with a quick change of mind) is having his friends call him a "cop" or a "narc" or other words to the Treasurer in S.S.F.

Responds

South San Francisco City Treasurer John J. Bonalanza on July 6 read a speech to city councilmen in defense of his job and the way he handles it.

Bonalanza had come under attack at the June 21 Council meeting when resident Don Gamma accused Bonalanza of a conflict of interest.

Gamma at that time charged that Bonalanza was not investing city funds wisely enough by placing most of them with a bank where he maintains a rent-free office, is a stockholder and was once an officer.

Mayor Bill Borba, who defended Bonalanza, last night called on the treasurer "to give a rebuttal" to Gamma's charges.

Bonalanza presented figures including that of his $375 a month salary, and an additional $200 he was granted six years ago to compensate for not getting the services of a secretary-clerk.

He said this $775 monthly wage is hardly worth the time and effort he puts into a job that long ago ceased to be part-time.

According to Bonalanza the city now has 47 different bond issues, valued at $9,897,413, outstanding. He said he handles some 20,000 coupons a year, and has to be alert because of the constantly changing interest rates.

The city treasurer also pointed out that he is bonded for $250,000, a fact that should prove his value.

"I welcome any professional or special expert that can show me how to receive a better return than I'm now getting," said Bonalanza.

Borba said, "you have my confidence," and indicated he would take steps to have the salary range of the city treasurer increased.

Crackdown on D.C. Dogs

Dog days have begun in Daly City.

Not the old-fashioned "dog days" when the weather became hot and everyone cautioned against teasing old Fido because he might snap at you.

These "dog-days" were instituted by the city council last month after a series of public hearings.

Police and dog catchers have been told to bring heat on both dogs and their owners if the canine companions are caught soiling the landscape.

Individuals could get slapped with a fine ($25 for the first offense) if they are caught letting their pets run loose or making a rest stop at a neighbor's home.

Head Start Programs

Central Kitchens Needed

Head Start programs in Pacifica, Daly City and South San Francisco are ready to get surplus foods through the state.

All that is needed is a central kitchen. Mrs. H. J. Glickman, coordinator of Head Start programs in the county, told the county's Economic Opportunity Commission in Redwood City Thursday.

Mrs. Glickman said that flour, grains, meats, fruit and milk are being obtained through Sacramento.

E. R. Becks, executive director of the War on Poverty in the county, told the commission that Dr. Harold Chope, retired county director of health and welfare, once noted that poverty in San Mateo County is reflected mostly in the care of children's teeth.

According to Becks, the Head Start program in Redwood City, which is financed differently than the north county program, has many private doctors and dentists available who are aware of the program's goals.

Becks said all programs in the county except San Mateo are handled directly by the community. In San Mateo the Head Start program is supervised by the school district.

Mrs. Glickman made her report on nutrition in response to a question of Mrs. Maria Carter, a commissioner from Pacifica.

She said that programs in Pacifica, Daly City and South San Francisco are being pooled so they can be operated from one kitchen. She said she thought that a kitchen was going to be available from one church, but so far it has not been provided.

Previously, Mrs. Glickman reported "very poor service" was provided by school districts. She said the food was of very poor quality, and not geared to the four and five-year-olds in the pre-school program.

Daly City and Pacifica Head Start programs are now eligible for surplus food because they began in 1969, and South San Francisco is being added to make a three-city program, which will operate five days a week.

Library Pact in D.C.

San Mateo County and Daly City reached an agreement last week on re-establishing library services to some 1,500 Broadmoor residents.

The contract services had expired on July 1. Since that time the Broadmoor area had been without library services.

In a letter County Manager M. D. Tarshes notified Daly City Manager David Rowe that the county was agreeable to renewal of a one-year contract which would allow $10 per person for such services.

Some 1,500 Broadmoor residents last year used the Daly City library.

In other action the city council approved a bookmobile that would visit homes of bedridden and hospital confined persons in the city. Some $57,836 was allocated in the 1971-72 budget for the services. The council is expected to approve formally the expenditure of the funds at its next regular meeting on Monday.

The bookmobile will operate in unincorporated county areas and the five member cities of the Peninsula library system.

San Bruno's City Council in Crossfire

San Bruno city officials found themselves caught in a cross-fire Monday night when councilmen approved a special type of labor agreement with about half of the city employees.

Speaking against any pay increase that "would raise taxes," Mrs. Ruth Harris of Bennington Drive, leader of "People's Revolt Against Taxes" asked the employees "even if your taxes are raised to pay your increased pay, you will come out ahead. . . Explain to me where I'll get the extra money to pay the increased taxes."

She claimed they acted under the philosophy "I got mine—to hell with you!"

She urged that all pay increases for government employees be placed on the ballot.

Mayor Maury Hamilton replied that city employees see it quite differently; they feel that the councilmen are discriminating against them.

Acting City Manager Leo Van Dusen presented memorandums of understanding from four employee organizations: Police Officers Assn., San Bruno Administrative Employees, San Bruno Supervisors Assn. and the San (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

No-Return Bottle Ban Headed for Trash Can?

South San Francisco's controversial ordinance to ban non-returnable bottles and cans appears headed for the trash basket.

A study committee headed by Councilman Frank Bertucelli voted unanimously last week to ask the full council on August 2 to rescind the ordinance.

Bertucelli said the reason for the August 2 date was to give proponents of the ordinance an opportunity to rebut the decision. The unanimous vote was made without any proponents of the ordinance in attendance.

John Tanti, one of the members of the study committee, read a prepared statement in which businessmen propose to donate $5,000 for bins to start a recycling program.

The businessmen also stipulated that if the recycling program is set up, the proponents should agree to lend their support to a recycling program.

Eugene Mullin, South San Francisco High School ecology teacher supporting the ban, was asked to accept the leadership of the proposed voluntary bin operation.

Proponents, particularly Mullin, contend the elimination of the ordinance was a foregone conclusion after business and industry began putting pressure on the council. When first introduced, the ordinance was adopted unanimously.

The ordinance originally was scheduled to go into effect on July 1. It was postponed for 90 days when a group of businessmen and industry representatives suggested further studies to seek an alternative to the ban.

'Storm' Over Permit for Recycle Center

A storm broke Monday night at the San Bruno City Council meeting, over a proposed recycling center across the street from City Hall.

Construction of the center on the grounds of the San Bruno Community Methodist Church, has now been halted while Actg. City Mgr. Leo Van Dusen, with the aid of City Atty. Joseph Galligan checks the legal status.

Speaking for the center was Atty. Ted Long, who was appearing at council meeting for the first time since his narrow loss in the recent recall election.

Long explained that he had assumed that since the whole thing was sponsored by the church, there was no need for a use permit.

He had planned a four-foot high redwood fence along the sidewalk and along the alley, to hide a series of steel drums in which the bottles and cans would be crushed. He explained that the idea of crushing the refuse on the spot would take care of the enormous storage problem which has defeated other such centers.

No other construction is planned, he added—except for the fence.

"It has been suggested that we find an area not so well traveled," he declared. "We picked it because of its accessibility."

It was to have been operated by volunteers every Saturday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The location would catch the housewife coming downtown to shop, he declared.

most appropriate approach to recycling.

Councilman Bertucelli said he has written to State Senator Arlen Gregorio and Assemblymen Dixon Arnett and Leo Ryan asking their official opinion on the problem. No answer has been received, according to Bertucelli.

As to the meeting last week, proponents of the ordinance say they were not officially notified. Bertucelli said he told everyone, and that the meeting date was established at the committee's June 17 meeting.

Bertucelli said the meeting was the third one held. "No more than one or two proponents of the ordinance attended the other meetings," he said. "I told each proponent of the ordinance on this committee of this meeting. Not a single one was here."

His comments were contained in a press release issued by a San Francisco public relations firm. The firm also issued a separate statement by Bertucelli where the councilman was highly critical of the proponents while he praised the businessmen.

A spokesman for the firm, retained by the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute, said his client had mentioned the desirability of attending last week's meeting.

The spokesman said he hadn't been at other meetings, nor has the firm issued press releases concerning the other meetings.

"They are trying to make us appear uncooperative," said David Fassler, one of three youths pushing for the ordinance. Fassler, who was at the June 17 meeting, said Bertucelli previously had sent postcards confirming meeting dates. Because he didn't receive confirmation of the Thursday night meeting Fassler said he assumed it was off.

Mullin, who also said Bertucelli had indicated he would give everyone advance notification, added that there were four meetings, not three. He said the first meeting was cancelled because all the proponents and none of the opponents showed up. He said he was not notified of the Thursday night meeting.

Both Fassler and Mullin said agreement had been reached at the June 17 meeting that if they agreed to rescind the ordinance and set up recycling centers, the matter of a ban would go to a referendum.

"It is obvious from our point of view that Bertucelli has changed his mind (on the ordinance)," said Mullin, who also was critical of the committee's citizen selection.

"Those people generally thought to be neutral were actually opposed to the ordinance and hand-picked by Bertucelli," said Mullin.

The citizen representatives are Terri Mirri, John Tennis and Donald Grimes. The committee also is made up of three business representatives, three industry representatives and the proponents.

Bruno Employes Assn. (city hall workers).

He is still negotiating with the three employee groups represented by the AFL-CIO union—Firefighters' Union, Library Workers and the public works employees.

At this time, he said, it appeared that pay increases would total $98,000—a figure that caused Mrs. Harris to speak out.

Later, Van Dusen explained that the basic pay increase followed the five per cent cost of living increase, which by itself would have raised the pay by $63,000. However, several groups of employees received higher increases because the average pay in five representative local cities rose higher. Cities were picked as being slightly bigger, slightly smaller, a little poorer and a little richer than San Bruno—Burlingame, Millbrae, Pacifica, South San Francisco and Daly City.

Thus, policemen received a 6 1/2 per cent increase, four library workers received a 10 per cent increase, and one got a 7 1/2 per cent pay raise. Police, in addition, received a one-time $30 uniform allowance—since the uniforms are changing this year. And they can accumulate sick leave to 150 days, instead of 120.

State Prison Term for D.C. Slaying

"I apologized," Robert (Curley) Windham said in describing the fatal shooting of his common-law wife, "but it was too late."

Windham, 35, of 201 Woodrow Street, Daly City, was sentenced Friday to serve up to 15 years in state prison for the killing last March 1 of Juanita Bouttie, 30, the mother of three children.

Originally charged with murder, Windham claimed a black-out as he pleaded guilty to lesser charges of voluntary manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon.

In a statement written for the probation report submitted to Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley, Windham said he tried to apologize after calling

Board Picks Chairman

Remo Boragno has been named president of the Millbrae School District Board of Trustees at a special meeting. He succeeds Mrs. Doris M. Brown.

At the reorganization meeting, held at the district conference center at Chadbourne School annex, Donald M. George was appointed clerk of the board, and Dr. Larry Foster, trustee representative. In addition to Mrs. Brown and Boragno, board member Theodore Dimitre was present at the session.

Supt. Muehlhausen told trustees that at the next regular meeting, to be held at the conference center at 8 p.m. on July 19, he will present several budget options for consideration, and expects to have revenue figures from the county, also. He plans to confer with Malcolm Blum, chairman of the Salary Committee for the Millbrae Education Association when the figures are available, regarding adjustments to the salaries of certificated personnel.

The board recently approved an adjustment in Supt. Muehlhausen's salary, which is now $28,000 per year.

The new president has served on the board for 18 years, and has been president and clerk several times. Boragno, who is a retired pharmacist, is a University of California graduate. He and his wife, Doris, have lived in Millbrae for 30 years. They have three children and two grandsons who attend Spring Valley School.

He is past director of the Millbrae Optimist Club; past president and director of the Millbrae Chamber of Commerce; was Man of the Year for 1960-61, and past chairman of the United Crusade for Millbrae.

SSF Unified Officers Set

Reorganization of the South San Francisco Unified School District's Board of Trustees on Monday placed Mrs. Lorraine Cooper in the president's chair. Mrs. Cooper replaces Leo Padreddi, who was appointed trustee representative. Trustee James Christensen was voted vice president of the board.

"I've enjoyed working with the board," said Padreddi in turning the gavel of presidency to Mrs. Cooper. "I apologize to those I might have offended. I've always tried to work for the benefit of the district."

In accepting the post, Mrs. Cooper said, "I hope I have the wisdom of Mr. (Leo) Eserini (board member and former board president) and Mr. Padreddi's patience."

Trustee Dr. Bill Starmer was voted clerk of the board. All changes received unanimous approval.

Mrs. Bouttie a name "but it was too late."

"Juanita whirled around," he said, "and came at me with a 10-inch knife. I reached out with both hands to stop her but missed and she stabbed me. I felt a sting in my stomach, looked down and saw the handle of the knife sticking out of me."

"The last thing I remember was saying, 'Good God.' I do not know what I did from that point on until 17 to 19 days after I was hospitalized."

Daly City police charged that Windham first beat Mrs. Bouttie with a gun and then shot her in the chest. He was also charged with shooting Mrs. Bouttie's sister, Helen Nelson, in the wrist.

3 Die in Sunday Mishaps

A cyclist, a girl auto passenger and a motorist walking away from a quarrel were killed in separate highway accidents in San Mateo County on Sunday.

The victims: Dennis Charles Somers, 25, of 2287 Joaquin Road, Mountain View, an instructor at the Mountain View Skin Diving School, killed when his motorcycle struck an abutment of the East Hillsdale Avenue Bridge, near Norfolk Street, San Mateo, at 1:09 a.m.

Peter H. Bell, 26, of 26 Brunswick Street, San Francisco, struck at 3 a.m. while walking on Highway One in Pacifica following an argument with his wife.

Corrine Brewster, 14, of 37 Via Canyon Road, Millbrae, killed when thrown from an auto which had struck an abutment on the winding coast road near Pescadero. The driver, Jeffrey G. Short, 227 South Ashton Street, Millbrae, was not treated for injuries.

Foster City Public Safety authorities said Somers was sighted by Officer Fred Ottinger as he made a left turn off Foster City Boulevard onto East Hillsdale Boulevard, and then accelerated his motorcycle.

Ottinger pursued, turning on his red lights and siren about 1,000 feet behind the cyclist. Ottinger, authorities said, was unable to gain on the cyclist, although the patrol car was going in excess of 80 miles an hour.

At the small bridge used by the State to connect the freeway to the Norfolk Street intersection, the cyclist lost control and struck the curb 21 feet east of the bridge, with cyclist and bike hitting the concrete abutment head on. Death was instantaneous.

It was the second fatal accident at the bridge this year. A man riding on the back of a compact sports car was thrown into it last February.

In Pacifica, police reported Bell was struck by a car driven by Felipe LeFranc as Bell walked along Highway One north of Sharp Park Road. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital a half-hour later.

Le Franc, 33, of 424 Edna Street, San Francisco, turned himself into the State Highway Patrol in San Francisco shortly before 6 a.m. He was held on a felony hit and run charge and was to be arraigned today in Municipal Court, Redwood City. State Highway Patrolmen C. Greenman and G. Kirkpatrick said Bell had walked away from a quarrel with his wife, Maurine.

Bell was apparently carried two miles by the car that hit him. He was found a quarter of a mile north of Manor Drive; his wallet, a shoe and a sock were discovered at the Sharp Park entrance to the highway.

A passing motorist, Bill Bobanilla, 270 High Gate Street, Daly City, found Bell lying on his back on the highway.

Mrs. Bell arrived a few seconds later; she had driven after her husband, when a Pacifica policeman warned her that it was dangerous for anyone to be walking along the highway at night.

Miss Brewster suffered internal injuries and was under resuscitation in the Half Moon Bay Fire District ambulance all the way to Sequoia Hospital in Redwood City. She died soon after arrival as firemen assisted physicians in continued efforts to keep her breathing. The accident occurred a half-mile east of Memorial Park.

effect they think he's a turncoat.

"They're doing their thing. I'm doing mine," said Castillo.

Curtis Thompson is a young man who wants to be a policeman so bad he has been doing volunteer work in the San Bruno department since February.

Thompson, 17, said cheerfully, "Tuesday was the first day of pay. It was volunteer up until then." He has been doing odd jobs such as filing, typing and running errands.

"Since I've been here a lot of my opinions (about police) have changed," said Thompson. He said the fact he's never been arrested is due in large part to the luck he never got caught. "I'm just like any other kid. I turned on. But I knew I'd better straighten out," he said.

Nineteen-year-old Gary Dyer also wants to become a police officer. He is presently studying police science at the College of San Mateo. Like Thompson, Dyer is a San Bruno resident.

Dyer exudes the air of one who has things pretty well mapped out. He has an uncle and a cousin who are firemen. Still, he wants to be a policeman. Looking forward to getting married, soon, he said "I might as well start thinking for the future."

"The oldest of the new group is 20-year-old Luis Hidalgo, Jr. The 'junior' is important, too. It wasn't included on his new name tag. He left Capt. Cann knowing that addendum is necessary for proper identification. "I'm me, not my dad," he said.

Hidalgo was born in San Salvador. He's been in the United States since 1959, and lives in San Francisco.

Like Dyer, Hidalgo is studying at the College of San Mateo. His major is criminology. Hidalgo is interested and desirous of doing his best to make sure the CSO program works. He's also slightly defensive.

"I'm not going to let myself be brainwashed," he said. Then as an afterthought, he added, "If such a thing exists. And I don't think it does."

Hidalgo wants to get into a position to help minorities. He thinks he pretty well understands minority and campus problems.

"This program allows me to find out the facts about police relationships with minority groups. I can judge for myself, based on facts, what's true and false," said Hidalgo. "I don't know all the answers."

Jerry Hines, 18, is a resident of East Palo Alto and a graduate of Ravenswood High School. He admits that at this point he's not sure which direction he'll go, policeman or probation officer. He wants to continue his education, and he wants to play football.

One thing is certain, as far as Hines is concerned, "If there were a program like this in Mississippi (his home state) you would see (it filled by) all whites."

Jerome Pittman, 18, and a resident of Daly City, said, "This is one of the last things I expected to do." Pittman admits to having a fear of police and police stations, even though he has a clean record.

"People tell me I look suspicious," said the Jefferson High School graduate. "I come from the San Francisco ghetto where (fear of police) is a way of life."

Pittman is interested in business law and said he intends to pursue that field. "I want to learn what goes on inside a police station. People say police are bad. I have to see for myself."

That seems to be the consensus of all seven, seeing for themselves. Probably the only other thing they all have in common is a high regard for Captain Cahn.

and all work as been volunteer, he said, with teenagers, Jaycees and others giving of their labor. Far from gaining, they were all giving, he said.

"I come to you humbly in quest of your support. With co-operation of everyone in the community, we can put this over."

Mayor Maurice Hamilton, however, told him that "no matter how worthy the project, it does not mean that you can bypass the permit. . . . You are in Fire Zone 1," he added. (Fire Zone 1 permits only fireproof construction.) He had received complaints from neighbors for the past several days, he added. Long expressed surprise: the neighbors helped him, he declared.

Hamilton added that the commercial zoning of El Camino Real simply does not permit such uses. City Atty. Galligan, however, reported that if it is indeed a church-sponsored activity, it would come under the First ever worthy, and expect the homeowner who builds his own fence to follow all the rules."

She moved to refer the matter to the city manager for the next two weeks. The motion was passed unanimously with Neil Christal absent.

Planning Commission Chairman Victor Ogrey declared that "I would think that the ecology movement concerns the total environment. . . . I cannot believe that it is absolutely necessary to have such an activity centered in the middle of the community. . . . Many people are trying to clean up El Camino Real and San Mateo Avenue."

There is a large section of San Bruno, he said, zoned M, for manufacturing, where such an operation could fit in.

Mrs. Ellie Larson of Hawthorne Avenue, local Sierra Club representative, asked the council to make sure that "no matter where it goes, it goes!"

In San Francisco's Richmond District, there are five sidewalk areas where Saturday afternoon recycling collections go on. Amendment, and the city would not be able to ban it.

Fire Capt. Lee Moore, however, thought that "the minister might renege. He had no idea when I talked to him that his fire insurance may go up."

"Let's have the city manager report in two weeks," Mayor Maury Hamilton said.

Long interjected, "for the city at least to express its support of the recycling center."

The Reading Perception Center in South San Francisco is enrolling children and adults for individualized tutoring programs in reading, math, and other areas. Credentialed teachers tutor students on a one-to-one basis.

Parent interviews and appropriate testing determine specific problems at no charge. Lessons run between $5-$10 weekly.

Reading instruction utilizes an audio-visual approach emphasizing phonic skills. Math programs teach basic as well as advanced skills using sequential and manipulative materials. Students average a year's growth in skills after three months of tutoring.

Parents may call 583-2478 anytime for more information and an appointment.

ucts of a Radio and Television Class at Jefferson High School, Daly City. They produce their own shows for on-the-job training. Tonight a seven-piece live Dixieland band will play a tribute to Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong over the Cable FM airwaves.

CTA Leader Hits Cutback of Funds

The California Teachers Association is mobilizing its 175,000 members to persuade the legislature to override Governor Reagan's "irresponsible cuts of the state budget."

L. Gordon Bittle, CTA president, said Wednesday that Reagan acted like a "robber baron" and balanced the budget "out of the hides of little people."

He said these are "the state employees, the college and university professors, the teachers, the pupils, the local property taxpayers."

"All of these, because of cutbacks at the state level, or because of no cost of living increases, are subsidizing Reagan's so-called balanced budget."

The CTA's headquarters are located in Burlingame.

Bittle said thousands of California public school teachers will be mobilized to focus the legislature's attention on what he called the drastic results of Reagan's "short-sighted, meat-ax approach to the state budget."

He said they will join in supporting the state employees and university and state college teachers in their efforts to promote veto overrides.

Bittle said the $100 million Reagan cut from state support of local public schools will add pressure for tax increases in many school districts.

"If local property taxes are not raised, the alternatives are cuts in the school day, increases in class size, cuts in programs such as athletics, art, music, counseling, and services such as nursing," he said.

"Such cuts are taking place all over the state now. They will increase if the governor does not assume his responsibility of making sure that the state shares in the cost of public education with local taxpayers," Bittle said.

"The state's support of local schools has dropped to about 35 per cent. This is hardly the 50-50 partnership for school support that the governor promised when he was running for election nearly five years ago."

Bittle declared that "through responsible use of his blue pencil, the governor, one man, is dictating to the legislature and to the public."

Coast Tribute to 'Satchmo'

By BOB PETERSON

Jazz! Jazz! Jazz!

Four hours of it as a tribute to Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong was aired over Pacifica Cable TVK's Channel 8 and sister FM on 10.7 Thursday.

The live telenovela session, coming from Studio 70 at 1810 Francisco Boulevard, featured The Blue Night Dixieland Band.

This group of young musicians includes a drummer, trumpet, clarinet, tuba, trombone and bass player. Its leader is 18-year-old Bill Bates, recent graduate of Jefferson High School in Daly City.

Bates also is one of numerous contributors to Studio 70's unique experimental format.

The programming was meant as a tribute to the New Orleans-born trumpeter and singer. It also offered an opportunity for the youths volunteering their time to the station to test what they can do, and find out what their listeners want to hear.

Bates says the station now has a reputation mostly for rock music, although the youths at the mike recently aired a Glenn Miller special.

Studio 70 has been serving Pacifica Cable Company subscribers since February.

Grady Hesters, an employee of Pacifica Cable Company and program director of Studio 70, said one purpose of the FM station is to provide a facility where residents can do their own show.

"Instead of us trying to guess what the audience wants, the audience comes in and does their own show," said Hesters.

"Mostly the station has been manned by young people, mainly because they seem to have more time. But we're also beginning to get older residents interested, too."

Hesters admits that the FM station programming is not too well developed at this point. For this reason he said he has not attempted extensive promotion.

"I want to wait until we're more reliably developed so that we can deliver on what we publicize," he said. "We're trying to stay loose and play with different types of formats."

The station is doing many things differently from a Federal Communication Commission regulated facility.

Programming, for instance, is based and evaluated to a great extent on how much fun they are to do, as well as to be designed for audience acceptance.

Presently, broadcasting goes something like this. Hesters does a children's show from 9 to 10 each morning. From 1 to 3 in the afternoons, Arnold Heckford does an easy listening-type show. This involves classical music to organ specialties.

The music is all un-interrupted.

At 4:30 p.m. there is a request show. It usually is handled by Analissa Fields or Ned Terry. Then Dale Dennis does a show called Ring My Phone. Dennis calls Pacifica residents and asks them if they have anything they want to say on the radio.

Evening programming is left entirely up to the person behind the mike. On Monday's it's Mike Booth. Mike Fesinmeyer and Bill Bates are scheduled for Tuesday nights. Mark Marin handles the Wednesday night show and Scott Tiraschi is on Thursday.

Jim Pearson does his thing on Friday night and Ray Heath puts on the Cosmic Ray Show Saturday nights.

The names listed are familiar to Pacifica and Daly City residents. Some volunteers even come from South San Francisco. But the listening audience, of course, remains the more than 10,000 Pacifica residents Pacifica Cable Company serves.

"We have a clearly defined audience," said Hesters. "It's almost like talking directly to individuals."

Hesters said he is trying to get together the necessary equipment to do a show featuring 78 rpm records. He said there also is an open invitation for residents with record collections they wish to share to contact the station.

Incidentally, for the Western man, a new show is being developed by Jim Gaskell, featuring country western music, and possibly live talent. It is scheduled to start next Thursday.

Right now, Pacifica's Cable Channel 8 and Cable FM 100.7 listeners never know quite what they're going to hear. As Hesters says, "The station has that spontaneous quality. But by not knowing, the listener many times misses something he would have wanted to hear, too."

"I think Studio 70 will be a significant addition," said Hesters. "It already has become a community communication center."

Bruno School Election Set

An election to fill a vacancy on the board of the San Bruno Park School District has been scheduled for October 12 by Dr. J. Russell Kent, county superintendent of schools.

The election was called to choose a successor to Mrs. Margaret Kozowski, who resigned after being elected to the San Bruno City Council. Her school board term extends through June 30, 1973.

Kent said it was not possible to consolidate the election with another. Law requires the election to be held between 75 and 120 days following the resignation.

Haul Out Drop Cloths and Let Kids Paint

THE POST'S Family Forum

If you feel the need to keep the children in today, and haven't forgotten where those two big drop cloths to cover your kitchen floor and table are, today is the day to try a messy—but fun—craft to keep you and the children busy for hours.

Model paint, some old cottage cheese carton lids, heavy duty aluminum foil and glue are your basic needs, from there you can build up your pile of supplies to include just about everything, of an expendable nature, under the sun.

To start the project, collect some used or extra washers, bottle caps, a marble or two, some scraps of twine or heavy crochet or knitting yarn, or even an old pocket comb with most of the teeth missing.

The first step, after securing the area with plastic coverings, is to decide on a name for the effort. A sure way to involve the young science minded generation in this craft is to say you are going to build a "moon-scape." The surface of the moon is becoming a familiar sight to most children and they know about craters and rifts so it won't be stretching their imaginations too far to ask them to glue the washers, yarn, and other items to the carton lid so that it resembles the moon. Allow the glue to dry long enough so that the objects won't slip and slide when the lid is turned upside down.

THE NEXT STEP is to place the foil over the lid and fold the edges under the sides so that all your paraphernalia is hidden under the foil. Now work the foil, gently down over the items you have glued to the lid. Use your fingers or a soft gum eraser to get the foil down over sides and between things. The longer you can encourage the children to rub the foil the more "moonlike" the finished product will appear but caution them to be careful not to tear the foil or the effect is ruined!

Now comes the messy part and the portion of the undertaking most children enjoy most. With small paint brushes cover the entire "moon-scape" with black model paint.

Let the kids have a free rein with this and the paint can be as thick or as thin as they want but the whole surface should be covered in some manner.

When the youngsters have determined that the painting is completed in the best possible way put the creation aside and allow to dry until the paint is almost hard. If your painter has been enthusiastic it will take a long time for a thick layer of model paint to dry, if the paint is a mite on the skimpy side, an hour or so ought to be enough.

With an old rag the artist should carefully and lightly rub the moon-scape to remove excess paint and cause the whole diorama to have a mottled look, typical of the blacks, to grays to silvery whites that we associate with the moon. Surprising how authentic this looks, isn't it?

IF YOU ARE acquainted with Yellowstone Park, suggest your artists reproduce the geyser area or the "paint pots", all in appropriate colors. A seascape can be created with cotton and yarn glued in rows across the lid and a corner covered with real sand or heavy gravel from your fish bowl. Paint the waves with blues and greens and the shore with brown or yellow.

When the children are using more than one color and if the desired effect is to show two or more distinct areas have them rub the paint off with small circular motions being careful not to rub one color across another. To create the proper color for waves or water the two colors can be rubbed together to give a marine green appearance.

Once the children get the idea they will have dozens of inspirations of their own and you may find them making miniature tide pools, prairie dog towns, any number of rough surfaces, which will remind them of some thing or place that is important to them.

You'll probably have to try your hand at some sort of representation and for adults, a tiny rock garden with plant shapes and fern fronds is a real challenge. Good luck!

THE MARQUEE

Jack Albertson, who will play anything from a heavy to a softy, found himself in his most dangerous role for a children's fantasy, "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory."

"I remember the days I'd do anything to make an honest dollar including shooting pool. But for this one they hauled me in the air in a harness on wires made by the engineers who flew Peter Pan. And underneath were tall steel spiked leaves that I could have been impaled on."

"When Germans build something, it's for posterity. They wouldn't have considered using a plastic material."

The sequence, shot in Munich, was supposed to represent a European city without specific time or location. It reunited him with Pat Neal, his co-star when he won the Oscar for "The Subject Was Roses." Her husband's book, "Charley and the Chocolate Factory," was the basis for the script. Roald Dahl was "surprised and pleased" when the director cast Albertson.

"There is enough black humor in the story to fascinate adults as well as kids. It features scores of midgets imported from England, Turkey, Malta and Germany."

The actor began in show business as a chorus boy in "The Duchess of Chicago" for the Schuberts in Boston.

"When I found out that show business meant booze, broads and late hours, I decided it was the place for me. My first show wasn't exactly a big success. They recast the backers several times and we took our bows from a packing case."

And then he became the great replacement, taking over roles from Eddy Foy and Phil Silvers, doing a nightclub act, going on the road with "The Red Mill," "High Button Shoes," "Top Banana" and the revival of "Show Boat."

"Getting the Academy Award was a funny thing. Everyone was afraid of a salary increase and it took me one and a half years to get a job. In the meanwhile I did TV."

"The best work I've ever done as an actor was on a 'Gunsmoke' segment. I played a mean old man who wanted to see his funeral before he died. It's been rerun twice."

No telling what Albertson will turn up playing. He'd been offered several Broadway shows this past season including "No, No Nannette," "70 Girls '70," "Pretty Belle" and "Follies," but will be kept plenty busy with a new TV series, to premiere in the fall, entitled "Simon Locke, M.D."

"I'll be traveling a lot for that one. We'll knock off 17 segments in 11 weeks beginning in Toronto. There is a resurgence of interest in the general practitioner because the public is tired of specialists. Sam Groom, who played the young husband in 'The Baby Maker,' will play the successful young internist with whose thinking and personality I'll conflict."

Would you believe him as San Francisco's chief of police? That's what he plays on the first segment of Rock Hudson's new series, "McMillan and Wife," also set to air in the fall.

"I'd worked with Rock in 'Lover Come Back' and he's a hell of a fine guy. He has concern for other people."

For a while Albertson was doomed to die on screen. He did in "Justine" and as a hobo traveling back home after 35 years in "Time To Every Purpose." In the unreleased "The Late Liz," he plays an Episcopal minister and then changes hats with George Kennedy who plays a priest while Jack plays a photographer for the first segment in September of Kennedy's new series "Sarge."

Is he happy with his career from song and dance man to dramatic actor?

"I keep hoping for more artistic roles, like King Lear."

NELL
NORTON
Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Here it is, July 14, a perfect day to bake a pie and a cake.

No, no, I'm not suggesting two high calorie desserts, rather an entree and a dessert.

The entree is a pie with a rich cheesy crust and an easy to fix ground meat filling. The crust is light, but not so delicate that you can't handle it. When making the bottom crust and fitting it into the pan you may pinch it together or roll out a little more dough to make a "patch," if it tears. It handles well.

CHEESE-BEEF PIE

- 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheese
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 3 tablespoons water

Measure about three-fourths cup of the flour into a bowl. Add the half teaspoon salt and half cup cheese. Mix lightly until cheese is coated with flour. Add the half cup shortening. With rubber scraper, cream together until smooth. Add the three tablespoons water and remaining three-fourths cup flour — just stir them in. Continue mixing until mixture clings together and "cleans" sides of bowl.

For bottom crust, shape about two-thirds of dough into smooth flat cake. Roll out about 1/8-inch thick on floured board (or between lightly floured sheets of wax paper), 1-inch larger than pie plate. (NOTE) The recipe calls for an 8-inch pan, but my 9-inch worked fine.) Line pie plate, fold crust under making a fluted edge. Roll out remaining pastry into a round and cut into 6 triangles.

MEAT FILLING

- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 1 cup grated raw potato
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

In mixing bowl combine the pound lean ground beef, one cup grated raw potato, two tablespoons each chopped onion and Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon salt and dash pepper. Mix thoroughly. Pat lightly into lined pie pan. Top with 6 triangles. Bake at 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes (till crust is lightly browned). Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking for 30 minutes — till filling is done. Serves 6.

I MADE THIS CAKE recently and took it to a dinner. Everyone wanted the recipe. What nicer reaction than that?

DATE CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

- 3/4 cup shortening
- 1 1/4 cups boiling water
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon cocoa

TOPPING

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 6 ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Pour the one and one-fourth cups boiling water over the cup chopped dates in a bowl. Cool.

Cream the three-fourths cup shortening and one cup sugar. Add the two eggs and beat well. Sift together the two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, half teaspoon salt and one tablespoon cocoa. Add the shortening mixture alternately with date mixture, adding dry ingredients first and last.

Pour batter into 13x9x2-inch pan (bottom rubbed with shortening). Sprinkle the combined fourth cup sugar, half cup nuts and package chocolate bits over batter.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 35 minutes.

Pictured after their recent wedding at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Burlingame are Mr. and Mrs. Verne L. Skjonsby Jr. (Dorothy E. Sveningsen). The newlyweds honeymooned at Cabo San Lucas in Baja and are now living in San Bruno. Their respective parents are Alfred Sveningsen of Burlingame and the late Eda Sveningsen and Mrs. Verne L. Skjonsby of San Francisco and the late Comdr. Verne L. Skjonsby, USN.

San Mateo is the first address for Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Buttel who honeymooned in Yosemite after their marriage at the Burlingame Assembly of God Church. The bride is the former Sandra L. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones of San Mateo. Stephen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Buttel of Millbrae.

Schaeffer-Roman Team a 'Winner'

Mae Schaeffer won the June Pacifica Bridge Club series and with partner Louise Roman has been scoring consistently high.

Pacifica made its mark in the recent Oakland Sectional. Pat Ostovar, Bette Baker, Lenore Baeff and Virginia Wheeler won some of the prized master points.

In the Saturday junior games, the Curt Landers and A. S. Malletts have been the leaders.

Newcomers James Meidl-Shirley Amato and Jean Reynolds-Mary Kemmers teams surprised the old-timers with their high placing.

Woodby-Schauer

Pamela Anne Woodby of Belmont and Robert William Schauer of Millbrae recently exchanged vows at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

The bride is the daughter of Arthur Woodby Jr. of Townsend, Tenn. and Mary Ellen Woodby of Belmont. When she walked with her father to the altar, she was wearing a full Empire gown of silk organza with camelot sleeves and a cameo neckline.

Mrs. Dennis Golland served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. David K. Brown and Mrs. Don DeValle of Cherry Hill, N.J., the bridegroom's sister. Each of the trio was dressed in a lilac silk organza gown.

David Brown was best man for the benedict who is the son of Robert J. Schauer of Millbrae. Ushers were Michael Schauer, his brother, and Timothy Garland Woodby, Pamela's brother.

Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco was the setting for the reception which followed. After greeting guests, the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Maui. They will live in San Carlos.

The bride is also the sister of Arthur Woodby III.

THE JAMES CRUMPLERS (Susan Walsh)

Walsh-Crumpler

Friends and relatives of Susan Kay Walsh and James W. Crumpler recently gathered for the couple's wedding at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City.

The newlyweds, who will make their first home in San Francisco, greeted guests after the ceremony at a reception at the Brentwood Lodge. Highlighting the event was a letter of congratulations from Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

The bride, who was Miss San Francisco 1969, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Walsh of Daly City. She said her vows in an ivory satin floor length A-line gown trimmed with appliques of pearls and crystal.

Eloise R. Gordon of Daly City, the honor attendant, wore a floor length gown of apricot chiffon over taffeta. Identical costumes also were worn by the bridesmaids, Sharon Palmer and Julie Zimmerman, both of San Francisco, and Marilyn Suber of Sacramento, the bride's cousin.

Leslie L. Grubin was best man for the benedict who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Codon of San Francisco. John D. Walsh, the bride's brother, seated guests with Forest Marshall and Lloyd Hershitzky.

The new Mrs. Crumpler was graduated from San Francisco State where she belonged to Big 'n' Tucker sorority. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Remi Sanders, a pioneer resident of Daly City. Her father is a Daly City Police captain.

Also a graduate of S.F. State, James earned his masters degree at UC at Berkeley.

TV Soap Operas Aid to Actors?

It used to be that the daytime soap opera dramas were considered to be training grounds for young talent. Recently my friend Larry Hagman, a three-year alumni of soap operas, credited the shows with teaching him a lot. "They don't teach completely, but they do give you great training in remembering lines, in improvising and with your timing," he said.

Things have changed in the soap opera of today. The people now starring in many of them are not strangers to Broadway, movies or prime time TV.

Macdonald Carey, Hugh Marlowe, Anne Jeffreys, Elizabeth Hubbard, Peter Brown, Anne Seymour and John Lupton are just a few of those starring in the day-timers.

Carey has starred in more than 50 feature films, including "Wake Island" and "Tammy and the Doctor." He came off the Broadway stage and he once told me, as we sat at a bar in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal, that he found daytime, live television a lot like the stage.

"Hugh Marlowe who plays in 'Another World' on NBC television has been in such films as 'Elmer Gantry' and 'The Birdman of Alcatraz.'"

Anne Jeffreys, you may recall, once did an early television series, "Love that Jill," and also the "Topper" series. Connie Ford has appeared in prime time television as well as several top feature films.

And, oh yes, we must not forget Jack Kelly who once played in "Maverick" along with Jim Garner. Today Jack is the emcee of NBC's "Sale of the Century."

AS ANY FAN OF TV, motion pictures or any other branch of show business is well aware, there is a major depression in Hollywood. Very few motion picture films are being produced, and not too many television series.

Some of the big names in the town are now turning to television.

Three years ago Doris Day, who had never done television, even for a special, suddenly decided to make a television series. After a shaky first season, the show has become successful.

This year there is a whole parade of big names. Henry Fonda will be starting his first full season with his series, Shirley MacLaine, Tony Curtis, Anthony Quinn, Rod Taylor, James Garner, David Janssen, Dick Van Dyke, Glenn Ford, Jimmy Stewart and a number of others will be taking advantage of their box office names.

"There is plenty of movie work," Ford explained, "but you have to leave the country if you want to work."

"I've been out of the country off and on for the past five years and now I want to stay home," he said.

Dick Van Dyke more or less admitted there weren't enough roles he wants to play. "If I was willing to take my clothes off, I suppose I could have gotten parts, but somehow I don't want to have to stoop to that."

Both Fonda and Stewart, in demand all the time, could have gone on to other feature films, but both said they wanted to try their acting hand at television.

The real story for most of the big names was that they just weren't getting work and they found they were still "big names" in television. They all wisely took advantage of the situation.

Mrs. John Reardon

St. Veronica's Women's Club Seats Officers

Mrs. John Reardon was recently installed as president of St. Veronica's Women's Club in a candlelight ceremony during Holy Mass at the parish church in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Reardon, mother of six children, has lived in the Rollingwood area of San Bruno for 15 years. She has served the parish both in the parochial school and the school of religion as well as in the women's club. She has also been active in work with exceptional children.

Other officers installed in this ceremony were the Mmes. James Hardy, Edward Rolon, William Barner, Roger Beaudry—first, second, third and fourth vice-presidents, respectively; John Martinez, recording secretary; Joseph Ledy, treasurer; George Fenisey, corresponding secretary; committee and circle chairmen.

Community Class Pre-registration

Pre-registration for Daly City community college classes, for the fall semester, is being taken.

The classes at present include English, Spanish, and sociology.

"This is such a wonderful advantage to the people in our community, because they are co-sponsored by Skyline and San Mateo colleges and can be credited toward the college education which so many of us are looking for or they can be non-credited," said Jennifer Perryman of the Daly City Information Center.

Hawaiian Wedding Trip

Honeymooning in the Hawaiian Islands are Mr. and Mrs. Don Joseph Gaidano (Karen Marie Page) who exchanged vows at the First Presbyterian Church in Burlingame.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Page of Millbrae and Mr. and Mrs. Mario Gaidano of San Francisco are the benedict's parents.

For her wedding, Karen wore a long white organza gown styled with a lace mandarin collar and bishop sleeves. She is an alumna of the College of San Mateo and San Jose State College.

Stephanie Westphal, her sister's matron of honor, wore an apricot pantsuit. Similar costumes in shades of yellow were worn by the bridesmaids, Linda Page, another sister of the bride, Nancy Schmet and Chris Pelaez.

An organza floor length dress was worn by the bride's niece, Courtney Westphal, who served as flower girl.

Scott Gaidano performed

best man duties for his brother.

Guests later felicitated the couple at a champagne buffet dinner at the San Mateo Elks Club.

The bridegroom was educated at the University of Santa Clara.

Exchange Program

A Personal Type of International Trade

Carol Muller of Daly City became involved in a personal type of international trade this week.

The students will trade their families, friends and summer vacations with a group of high school students from West Germany in Volkswagen's annual Youth Exchange Program.

Carol left San Francisco International Airport July 11, for Washington D.C. She and the 35 other Americans participating in the program toured the capitol and New York City before flying to their summer homes yesterday.

Home for Carol will be with the family of Susanna Stottmeister, in Wolfsburg. The students will be together in Germany for about one week before Susanna leaves for California.

This scheduling gives every one a chance to get to know the "exchange" and, for the Americans, gives them time to be introduced to a whole new circle of friends.

The students, Carol and Susanna, will also spend several days together at the end of the summer in Daly City.

Volkswagen Youth Exchange started as an experiment involving two teen-agers from each country in 1962. The pilot program was expanded to include 22 students from each nation the following summer. With the 36 exchanges taking place this summer, 600 American and German youths have enjoyed the summer trade.

The local sponsor of the program is Ed Norris, owner-general manager of Ed Norris Volkswagen in Daly City.

Skyline College continued to register another historical and academic landmark in its two year history as 423 students (approximately 23 per cent of the day college enrollment of 1850 students) made the college's Dean's honor list for the Spring 1971 term. James C. Wyatt, Dean of Students, announced.

Each student making the list achieved a B (3.0 grade point average) or better in their final report issued at the conclusion of the current term.

A total of 396 students out of the 423 were from within the San Mateo Junior College District. They included Daly City-Colma, 131; South San Francisco, 81; San Bruno, 75; Pacifica, 70; Millbrae, 15; Burlingame, 8; San Mateo, 7; Redwood City, Brisbane, Belmont, and Foster City had 2 each. San Francisco had 24 and four came from other surrounding or out-of-district communities.

North San Mateo County high school graduates and other residents planning to attend Skyline College for the fall 1971 semester should not delay completing their application for admission. James C. Watt, dean of students, said, "We urge that all prospective students complete their applications now and get all their transcripts of all their high school and other college work in before August 1," Wyatt urged.

The college will hold its next placement test August 7, in Building 1, from 131, at 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Before a student may take this test the individual must have completed the application and transcript procedures. Following the completion of such procedure and the taking of the test, the student will be sent a registration-counseling card early in August, according to Wyatt.

Skyline College will hold its registration counseling between August 23-September 8 during the hours of 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Parents wishing information regarding Skyline College's Fall 1971 application for admission should contact the Registrars and Admissions office between 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., or write, 3300 College Drive, San Bruno.

Four new courses have been added to the Skyline College curriculum for the fall 1971 semester.

Philip C. Garlington, the president, said that the courses, approved by the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees and prepared by David D. White, dean of instruction, are all accredited transfer courses to state colleges and universities.

Two of them also can be used as terminal courses for those students interested only in the Associate in Arts degree.

Three of the courses are in the English division while one is in the psychology department.

Gregorio to Meet with D.C. 'Seniors'

Tax reform and inequities in the tax burden of the senior citizen are sure to be discussed when Senator Arlen Gregorio Dem., San Mateo, meets with Daly City senior citizens and minority community members at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Lincoln Park Center.

Other stops on this second Daly City Constituent Day will include:

2 p.m. "Latin Heritage," Flea Market, Jefferson Elementary School, 14 Allemany Street; 3 p.m., Westlake Shopping Center, near entrance of Kay Jewelers on the Mall; 4 p.m., Serramonte Shopping Center, near entrance of QFI and Longs Drugs on the Mall.

"I find these Constituent Days very helpful to me in representing San Mateo County at the State Capitol," Senator Gregorio said.

"It is important that the people have an opportunity to exchange ideas and to be able to give me a 'piece of their mind,'" Gregorio added.

Anyone interested in talking with Senator Gregorio may do so at any one of his stops.

Assembly OKs Ryan Prison Reform Bill

The State Assembly voted 46-16 in favor of Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan's (D-So. S.F.) prison reform bill, AB 483.

The bill would overhaul the existing Adult Authority Board and establish a "minimum sentence" release date for prisoners, and, according to Ryan, would "take an important step towards making our prison system truly rehabilitative."

"This bill will end up saving the taxpayers money by making our prisons more efficient, and make sure that those prisoners who should be paroled are, and that those who shouldn't be are kept incarcerated," Ryan said.

The new bill, which now goes to the Senate Judiciary Committee, would reduce the state "parole board" membership from nine to five persons, change the make-up of the board, and would also direct that prisoners be released on parole "not later than the minimum term prescribed by law."

Temple Leaders are Selected

The newly elected officers of the Board of Trustees for Congregation Beth Israel-Judea are:

Jack J. Kadesh, President; Dr. Martin Apple, Vice President; Arthur Becker, Vice President; Joseph Friedman, Vice President; Fischel Cornfield, Vice President; Martin Segol, Vice President; Kurt Hylton, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Board of Trustees will be installed at special services July 16.

Post-Times Writer

SNOOPING 'N SCOOPING — Marianne Danely at a public council meeting in The City of The Town of Colma didn't know that was the real name of Colma Town) accused Councilman Glen E. Duncan of not being a resident of that city for one year before accepting appointment to fill a vacancy on the council and thereby not eligible for the post. On the advice of city attorney Robert H. Cornell, Duncan listened to Mrs. Danely, but did not answer.

The woman, operator of Elmer's Flower Shop in Colma, said she recently asked city attorney Cornell to answer what councilman Duncan's address was prior to his August 12 1970 appointment — and he allegedly told her to ask the Attorney General's office.

BASEBALL BATTLE — The annual softball game between San Bruno firemen and police played on July 4 at S.B. city park was again won (this time in ten innings) by police. The score was 12-10. Police have won for the last several years. Asked the other a.m. what was news around town, a police spokesman told us about the game. Ah, these lazy summer days when crime takes a holiday.

QUICK ANSWER TO R.R. — Yes, Colma Mayor Raymond Ottoboni is also chairman of the city's Planning Commission. A city ordinance provides for such dual positions.

OPPS . . . SORRY ABOUT THAT — Daly City police received an anonymous phone tip that a marijuana plant was growing in the window of a home at the corner of Southgate and Windsor. Mrs. John J. Flynn showed the innocent house plant to police who gracefully exited after assuring themselves it wasn't marijuana. Mrs. Flynn is the mother of Highway Patrol lieutenant J. J. Flynn.

CONGRATS DEPT. — Again to the Flynn family. Mrs. J. J. Flynn, (this time the wife of CHP officer Flynn) has been appointed to the post of assistant secretary to the Board of Directors at the First Charter Financial Company. With the way Women's Lib is going who knows, she may someday be a manager. Right now, the company has no female managers.

FORMER COUNCILMAN EDWARD J. DENNIS still works hard for kids, while keeping his finger in the milk business (he served as president of the milk workers for more than two decades). Dennis is the man who provided some 300 ice cream cups to youngsters attending the Serramonte Drama Carnival on July 9. Community could use more youth-oriented people like Eddie.

SEE THE SIGN — The sign is big. The sign is in Daly City on a busy street. The sign says: "Visit South San Francisco."

THAT CYPRESS HILLS Junior Golf Tourney sponsored by the Cypress Golf Club and D.C. Host Lions Club, and supported by Mayor Lysett and the city council, is good. It is not only good for sponsors — publicity-wise — but good for the youths. Better to take up a golf club and hit a ball, than a wooden club and hit anything in sight. P.S., we would be remiss if we didn't mention that similar events for youth are held at Lake Merced Country Club periodically with the wholehearted support of the membership.

SPEAKING OF Mayor Lysett . . . Spotted smiling along with Assemblyman Leo Ryan (Congressional candidate Ryan???) at the news of Gov. Reagan's signing of AB 463. That's the bill authored by Ryan at the request of Daly City which allows BART to apply for federal funding of that $5.5 million multi-level parking garage at the terminus station on Knowles.

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL VENDOR — Students at South San Francisco Unified School District are being asked to use vending machines put in schools. A percentage of the coins fed into machines is turned back to student funds. Our question: How do you complain to a machine when the soup's cold?? Answer: Tip it heavy. Like on its side!

THAT WAS TOTO — The fellow with the white topper, flour-covered hands and expertise in tossing pizza dough into the wild blue yonder at the Bacalla Club luncheon the other day was none other than civic leader, one time assembly candidate, human relations commissioner, amateur golfer and (last but not least) restaurant owner Frank "Toto" Spadarella. Mama mia, whatta pizza!

NOTES ON A SHABBY CUFF — There are only 13 parcels left for the City of Daly City to purchase on the Knowles Avenue improvement project. There were originally 55. Two commercial lots also remain . . . That housing for senior citizens in D.C. is getting longer (and harder) looks from city officials . . . Those petitions asking the court be left in D.C. have already gathered more than 1,000 signatures. Maybe once they're full the County Board of Supervisors will think the matter over again. Doubtful, doubtful . . .

Rancher, 80, in Rezone Plea

'I Won't Live Long Enough...'

Frank F. Latta is old and hard of hearing and down at the back but he is mentally sharp and persevering in the extreme.

For 18 years he has been trying to find some productive use for his 725-acre ranch on the south San Mateo County coast which, he says, costs far more in taxes each year than he can get out of it.

Now, at the age of 80, he was back before the County Board of Supervisors July 6, hoping for approval of a new zoning classification that will make the property attractive enough to sell.

It ended with the board sending the proposal back to the Planning Commission for more study and scheduling the next public hearing for 2 p.m. September 7. Chairman James V. Fitzgerald tried to assure Latta that the board will do all it can for him as soon as it can.

"I won't live long enough," Latta told the board.

Latta said he and his wife, Jean, paid $8,000 in property taxes on the ranch last year and took in only $3,000 from rentals of some beach frontage. The ranch is just south of the Pigeon Point lighthouse.

"We've had to take $30,000 out of our savings in the last five years just to pay taxes," he complained.

"Taxes are too high," Latta told the supervisors. "We have to sell. But nobody's going to buy it unless we can get the rezoning."

Latta is asking that the zoning be changed from an agricultural to a forestry-conservation classification to make commercial recreational development more feasible. His comment on the unsalability of the property was seconded by James A. Barclay, who said he represents a concern that is interested in buying the ranch if the new zoning is approved. He said the property is useless for anything except recreational development.

"We are talking about a gilded white elephant," Barclay told the board. "It's something that everybody wants to share but nobody can afford."

"No one can touch that property now because they don't know what they can do with it," Latta has submitted several development plans to the county, the latest being a family camping proposal outlined by Barclay. The concept, Barclay said, is to have a series of such campgrounds under the control of one company to augment and supplement the overcrowded public facilities. Private overnight campgrounds have been increasing in popularity throughout the nation in recent years.

Latta told the board that he has paid $8,000 over the years to nine engineering companies in an effort to satisfy county requirements. One of them, Edwin Smith, told the supervisors that there is plenty of water on the ranch and the soil is suitable for septic tanks. Public Health Engineer Henry Eich said, however, that he is still not satisfied on either point. He said he would recommend against the use of water from Gazos Creek because of its contamination hazard and urged Latta to try to develop wells instead.

In sending the matter back to the planners, the board asked for more study of those points as well as of the possibility of having a special commercial recreation zoning classification or some other means of assuring tighter control over campgrounds.

James W. Halley

Real Progress Made by Blacks in U.S.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Chairman of Lyndon Johnson's Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence, sees the possibility of racial war in the United States. Noting that there are 25 to 30 million hand guns in the country, he claims that arsenals are being collected by groups from the far left and far right. He attributes the 100 percent increase in crime of the 60s to environmental causes rather than racism and calls for solution of the social causes of crime—poor housing, education and unemployment.

These comments by a respected American focus attention on the current condition of the black population and its aspirations and requires reflection as to just what real progress is being made.

On the down side, general employment conditions have heavily hit the Negro community and Negro young (just like white young) find jobs few and far between. Initial concepts about how to encourage black capitalism restructured, and the ghettoizing of our core cities continues.

The statistics on integration (especially in the south) are impressive. The Supreme Court decision on busing disclosed government figures that southern schools are "now more racially integrated than the north. A special issue on education in Saturday Review showed that 39.6 per cent of southern black children are in schools with a white majority, while only 27.8 per cent of northern black children attend such schools." The percentage of black pupils attending majority white schools has doubled in the 11 southern states (from 18.4 per cent in 1968 to 38 per cent in 1970).

With such changes come complaints about the nature of school administration. Displacement of black principals, administrators and the style of education provided integrated minorities will be under increasing attack as integration works through the needed years of adjustment.

The best news of progress comes from the political arena. Here, the nascent strength of black America has shown a surge of accomplishment. In 1967 less than 480 blacks held public office in the United States. Today, according to a report of the Joint Center for Political Studies, 1860 blacks hold such offices (out of a total of 522,000 such positions). Included are one Senator, 13 Congressmen, a Supreme Court Justice, 68 Mayors, California's Superintendent of Public Instruction, and a wide assortment of judicial executive and legislative officials. These blacks, working within the system have brought ability and strength to public affairs, and the continuing political struggle brings forth new faces and opportunities. The real news about the black community is not to be found in the Huey Newtons and the Angela Davidess, but the accomplishment and successes of innumerable blacks who are engaged in more orthodox political activity of one kind or another.

Further, blacks are securing more and more high level appointments in federal and state governments. The Nixon administration includes many blacks in sensitive positions and the President is establishing a minority talent bank to draw upon as vacancies occur. Negro Generals and now an Admiral testify to sound and solid progress within the services. President Nixon has appointed approximately twice as many black women to government and governmental advisory boards and commissions as either of his two predecessors in office.

In California, the Reagan administration has appointed more blacks to executive positions than any former administration. Governor Reagan is the first Governor of California to appoint a Negro as director of a state department. For the first time Negroes hold positions on the sensitive Real Estate Commission and Barbers Licensing Boards, and San Francisco's Jim Stratton is Chief of the Division of Apprenticeship Standards.

Taken together, this kind of progress in the governmental arena means that regardless of politics and party the black has arrived as a useful and talented participant in public affairs. But most importantly, involvement in the political cauldron itself presents the greatest hope for the future. Here, within the system and only aided by fair voting laws, black initiative is finding its clearest expression. In seeking and acquiring power, the American Negro will add strength, balance and new vitality to the national fabric.

Library Serves Business Community

Your public library attempts to serve all segments of the community. One segment, however, which has been neglected in the past by many libraries is the business community. Today, business is served in many ways by the local library.

Among the many holdings keyed primarily to the business man is "The Tax Coordinator" seven volumes, kept constantly up-to-date, prepared by the Tax Research Institute of America, Inc. These volumes "provide practical tax intelligence in achieving the lowest business and personal tax" through "a series of clearly stated professional briefs backed up by citations to the Code, regulations, rulings and decisions which apply."

The library subscribes to Moody's services including the "Industrial Manual," the "Bank and Finance Manual," the "Public Utility Manual," the "Municipal Government Manual," the "Transportation Manual" and the "Handbook of Common Stocks." The latter is published four times a year and is designed for the stock buyer who is looking into the qualifications of individual issues before acting.

"Thomas' Register of American Manufacturers" lists leading manufacturers by products and services, company names and brand names. It also includes a list of commercial organizations and three volumes of company catalogs appearing alphabetically. "Haines Criss Cross Directory" lists occupants of San Francisco and the Peninsula by telephone number, zip code and street address. This directory includes zip code maps and is updated annually.

In the field of law, the library has a series of legal almanacs, published by Oceana Publications, which gives the law on various subjects in nontechnical language. Sample titles are "Law for Pet Owners," "Crimes and Penalties," "The Law of Insurance," "Medicare," etc.

To keep its information current, your library relies in part on government documents. These include up-to-date state codes and code supplements and federal documents such as the "Introductory Guide to Exporting" and "Exporting to the United States" published by the United States Department of Commerce.

Numbers of publications are issued by the Small Business Administration such as the "Starting and Managing" Series — i.e. "Starting and Managing a Small Business of Your Own," "Starting and Managing a Pet Shop," "Starting and Managing a Gift Shop," etc.

For the young person just entering the business world or the older one thinking of changing fields a valuable resource is "The Occupational Outlook Handbook" an annual publication of the United States Department of Labor.

Other tools offering access to today's information are the periodicals such as Business Week, Forbes, Fortune and newspapers such as the Wall Street Journal and The O-T-C-Market Chronicle (devoted exclusively to over-the-counter securities).

In addition the library is constantly building its collection of books which it hopes will be of interest and assistance to the business community. Some recent titles are "Principles of Management Science" by Harvey M. Wagner, "Planning Corporate Growth and Diversification" by Peter Hilton and "How Organization are Represented in Washington" by Lewis Dexter. Two titles from the collection of business history for the person who wishes to have an in-depth grasp of his or her field are "From Peddlers to Merchant Princes, a History of Selling in America" by Penrose Scull and "Packages and Print: The Development of Container and Label Design" by Alec Davis.

These are just a few of the ways the library hopes to serve its patrons and it invites the representatives of business and industry in the area to visit and use the services created particularly for them.

Variables of the Budget

The fiscal affairs of San Mateo County are not greatly different from those of other chartered counties and, in theory, should be a simple matter of preparing a balanced budget and fixing a tax rate sufficient to fund it.

In actuality, this is an enormously complex procedure subject to unknown variables — and unforeseeable factors, some of these being beyond control of the county. To take a cursory and over-simplified look at what has been happening in San Mateo County this year:

A budget of $123,842,673 was approved on June 29 by County Board of Supervisors for the fiscal year of 1971-72. In final form it represents drastic cutting of $2,235,410 from the final budget recommendation of the County Manager who, himself, had already reduced departmental budget requests by a very large amount. In its final form it represents a modest increase from last year's budget of $116,368,341.

In the preparation of the budget the county must take into consideration all sources of its income ranging through a long list of revenues other than the property tax and including such diverse matters as fines, fees, rentals, licensing, and — most importantly — federal and state grants, subventions and apportionments. Many of these are unknown in amount during the early stages of budgeting and are represented by expert estimates. In general, the difference between the total of all other sources of revenue and the total of the budget is the amount to be raised by ad valorem or property tax.

The tax rate, which will be fixed in August, must be set at a rate sufficient to fund this difference. To fix the rate it is necessary to know the total of the county assessment roll which is now computed at $1.9 billions, plus the value of utility company holdings which are assessed by the State Board of Equalization and will be set late this month.

All of this is "straight-away," but it is not that easy.

With respect to the budget. It has been duly established, but some loose ends remain. For a major one a dispute with county employees, over wages and benefits, is now the subject of court action and the planned method of meeting the contested expense is a contingency fund arrangement which may, or may not, cover final agreement.

Here we have just one of the significant variables on the expenditure side. No one can say what the final settlement will be. Other variables on this side of the ledger arise from the extensively blue-penciled State Budget finally signed by the Governor. Elisions in that budget may make a difference of as much as nine cents per hundred dollars assessed valuation in the county tax rate, while approved items will take some expected strains off county costs, particularly in the costs of mental hygiene.

The matter of the county assessment roll, which shows an unexpected and gratifying increase, may yet be the foundation for an actual reduction in the county tax rate.

What all of this confusing cross-talk comes down to is that the taxpayers of San Mateo County should be grateful for the insistence on cost cutting by their Board of Supervisors and the board's chairman, James V. Fitzgerald, who is among the first to look searching forward to the greater tax bill potentialities in the various types of regional controls that some legislators want to superimpose on the present tax economy.

As nearly as examination of the budget and revenue expectancies can show, San Mateo County citizens are getting careful protection of their interests.

Realization:

'How Little Influence...'

By ARLEN GREGORIO
State Senator

In all the years I observed the California Legislature before I was elected to the Senate, I never realized how little influence an individual legislator can have on the State budget.

A freshman legislator has the least. If a legislator is on one of the two finance committees — and he must have served at least one full term before he has a chance of being selected — and if he wishes to work very hard, he can have a measurable effect on the budget.

Even after a member of one house's finance committee has done his best to help create a good budget, he must then watch as the document goes to a joint conference committee, of whose members only three are from his committee. This six-man committee — five per cent of the combined Legislature's membership — then writes the actual budget as it will be finally voted on.

No amendments are allowed to the conference committee's budget bill after it has been presented to the Legislature.

I eventually voted for a budget I had no part in putting together, couldn't amend, didn't have time to read thoroughly, and couldn't really vote against — because the State had already gone two days without one.

Wind Whips Fire at a Bruno Home

Wind-fanned flames caused an estimated $15,000 damage to a San Bruno home Wednesday. Slight damage was caused to four other properties, firemen said.

Karen Stage was waiting for her mother, Mrs. Lorraine Stage, who was en route home at the time, when she smelled smoke at 5:53 p.m. and asked a telephone operator to call firemen.

Captain Ray Gomes said he and other firemen saw a large, grey puff of smoke as they left their Sneath Lane station and turned onto Skyline Boulevard, more than a mile from the Stage home at 2205 Charleston Avenue.

The flames, whipped by a stiff wind, had totally involved the shingle roof by the time firemen arrived, Gomes said.

Fire authorities said the entire roof of the home was destroyed and the interior damaged by smoke and water.

Captain Gomes said firemen have not yet determined the cause of the blaze, but believe it started in the front of the house.

Damage to the house itself was estimated by firemen at $15,000, and to contents, $5,000.

No loss estimates were given for nearby properties, where some spotty burning was reported by their owners, Gomes said. Blowing embers landed on the roof of the home at 2201 Charleston Avenue, east of the Stage residence, and small burn patches were reported by owner Con Finnigan. A four-foot section of fence also was damaged, Captain Gomes said.

Slight burn damage to the roof of 2350 Trenton and 2339 Trenton and to indoor-outdoor carpeting at 2355 Trenton also were reported to firemen.

Fireman James Curran got a flying ember in his eye. It was removed at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame.

Navy Airman Ends Program; Marine Rotates

Brandt of 1020 Washington Street, Colma, has completed the recruit phase of the Navy's "Four-to-Ten-Month" active duty program at the Memphis Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Millington, Tenn. He will now attend a Class "A" School and return to civilian life upon completion of his active duty commitment.

To satisfy a six-year military obligation, he will become a "Weekend Warrior" at a Naval Air Reserve facility near his home.

MARINE CPL., Jon D. Sordahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Sordahl of 8 Grandview Ave., Daly City, has returned to his home base of Beaufort, S.C., with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 451 after a three-month deployment to the Naval Air Station, Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico.

NAVY SEAMAN Patrick A. Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Maloney of 230 Lake Drive, San Bruno, was graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego. He is a 1969 graduate of Oceana High School in Pacifica.

NAVY PETTY OFFICER Second Class Charles W. Cox, husband of the former Miss Georgia L. McCrum of 646 San Diego Ave., Daly City, has completed a six-week "shakedown" cruise to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, aboard the tank landing ship USS Saginaw.

The newly commissioned Saginaw is homeported at Norfolk, Va.

Court Suit Assails Jail at San Bruno

By BOB PETERSON

San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno is under attack again, this time in a lawsuit filed in United States District Court in San Francisco.

The suit was filed by dozens of prestigious law firms Thursday as a civil rights test on the constitutionality of whether being held in county jails—including the San Francisco jail—is cruel and inhuman treatment.

San Mateo County Supervisors after much prodding recently proceeded with steps necessary to have the San Bruno jail abated as a nuisance. Reports supporting this abatement proceeding pointed out that the jail was an inadequate facility.

Named as defendants in the suit were Sheriff Matthew Carberry, Mayor Joseph Alioto and the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. The suit was filed on behalf of all prisoners in the San Francisco County jails.

Judge Robert H. Schnacke Thursday began part one of a mutually agreed split of procedure in determining the issues. The first part is to determine if there are violations of federal and state laws.

If that allegation is proved, the second step will determine who is responsible, and how and who should make necessary corrections.

The first phase of the proceedings are expected to continue through the middle of next week.

One of the attorney's, M. Laurence Popofsky, said the suit is an attempt to show that conditions of the jails are violative of the entire range of civil rights.

He said the main attack will be on showing what the jails do not provide that are necessary for human beings.

Among the items Popofsky listed as missing are inadequate food, medicine, sanitary conditions, educational and recreational facilities.

He said there are inadequate beds, clothing and blankets, and that food does not meet minimum dietary requirements. Prisoners are served at a cost of 68 cents each a day, said Popofsky.

San Mateo County Supervisor Bob St. Clair said the suit "just emphasizes what we've said all along, that there are deficiencies involved."

St. Clair said the county's abatement proceedings were based strictly on the security at the jail. "We're not getting into the administration of the facility, except as to how it might affect the security of the jail," said St. Clair.

Referring to the San Bruno jail, Sheriff Carberry today said "this is the most secure county jail of any place in the state."

Carberry said he will put the record of "no escape, not even a walk-a-way, since September of 1969" up against any similar facility. During this period an escape resulted in the murder of a Pacifica resident.

The sheriff added that there is no over-crowding problem at the jail and that the average stay there is 60 days.

"There has been political abuse in the matter for a long time," said Carberry, alluding to the fact the jail sight has suddenly become a prime area for real estate speculators.

As to the suit, Carberry said he looked upon it as a blessing in disguise. He said he was added.

hopeful it would benefit the entire jail system, including the San Bruno facility.

"I welcome the fact that it will be settled before a federal court judge," said Carberry, emphasizing that the suit's purpose is to improve conditions. "I've sought money for improvements for 15 years," he said.

Airline Group to Fight Noise Law

The Air Transport Association, a union of the airlines, has decided to battle California's statewide anti-jet noise law.

Spokesmen in the air transport industry say they have been concerned about the probability that the state law will be applied to jet airports first, although it is written to apply to all airfields.

Approved last summer by the State Board of Aeronautics, the law is to go into effect by the end of this year. It states that cities, counties, or other operators of airports are responsible for keeping aircraft noise down.

The law is the first statewide anti-aircraft-noise law in the nation, and requires that a series of zones be established around airports, and that no sound greater than specified levels be allowed beyond each of these zones.

Airlines officials complain that the criteria for measuring these levels of sound, as established by State Aeronautics Director Joseph Crotti, are based on disputable standards.

The federal government uses one standard for measuring sound, the airlines men say, and the state has suggested another. Private acoustical engineers use several other systems.

Although noise can be measured in simple "decibels," long the standard for sound measurement, the airlines aides comment that acoustical engineers have developed such standards as "perceived noise level" in decibels, "effective perceived noise levels," and others. None of the different standards of measurement, is interchangeable with other systems, they say.

Crotti admitted, when he recommended that the State Board adopt his noise standards, that such is the case. However, he said, the system he was suggesting had been chosen after careful study, and would soon become the standard in California. New in the state law, is a system for counting noise levels over a period of time.

After months of studying the new law, airlines officials have realized that it provides the legal muscle to have them shut down.

"The State of California," said one executive, "is going to have to decide how much air service it wants, and realize that it will have to live with the inconveniences it takes to provide that much service."

Air Transport Association has never before taken a position against a state law in California, one airlines man said, "but this law may ruin us all."

He said the ATA action is most likely to be a request to the state legislature to have the law's effective date postponed one year, while further scientific study is done in the field of measuring noise.

"It is highly subjective," he said, "what is noise to one person, is a minor annoyance, or even less, to another."

He noted that people in Portola Valley and Woodside are complaining about noise when the amount of sound created in their area by planes passing over at 4,000 to 8,000 feet, is almost nothing, compared to the noise levels in many homes of Millbrae, and South San Francisco, which are directly under the takeoff pattern.

"How do you measure what noise 'irritates' a person?" he asked. "We don't know, and we're sure the state doesn't know."

He said one method of attack on the state law might be based on the method by which the law was adopted.

The State Board of Aeronautics was authorized to study the question adequately, and come up with recommendations," he said. "Actually, they did not thoroughly study the data presented to them by Crotti, because they had a deadline. They simply adopted the law, as suggested, to meet that deadline."

Weekly inspection of the Oyster Point dump site by City Engineer Lou Goss has been approved by South San Francisco councilmen.

However, a recommendation last week by City Attorney John Noonan to have a monthly inspection by a soils engineer of the site bogged down when Councilman Warren Steinkamp questioned the cost.

Steinkamp specifically was concerned that the city should not pay for it, or at least should share the cost of a soils engineer with the South San Francisco Scavenger Company.

According to Steinkamp, the scavengers are responsible for the condition of the dump and they are the ones who should pay for any inspection to make sure it is in satisfactory shape.

A compromise was reached when Goss was instructed to discuss cost sharing with the scavengers.

Noonan said one of the main reasons he wanted the inspections was to insure that no erosion or leaching occurs.

Jehovah's Witnesses Will Meet

A crowd of over 30,000 is expected at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium this week for Jehovah's Witnesses' district assembly.

The conference, centering around the Bible and 20th-century living, begins today at 1:40 p.m.

The keynote address of District Supervisor Alwyn L. Franck at 3:35 p.m. will highlight the "Divine Name" District Assembly theme, according to Francis Malespina, circuit supervisor in Daly City.

Thursday afternoon's program will feature a presentation on the dangers of using drugs. It will present practical suggestions whereby families can protect themselves in this drug-crazed age.

Friday morning will see the Witnesses' characteristic mass-baptism of new ministers. Starting at 2 p.m. Saturday, delegates will be warned "Do Not Let Yourself Be Sidetracked" by such stumbling blocks as materialism, personalities, discouragement, entertainment, fads and nationalism.

Dramas in both present-day and Bible settings will be staged on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings dramatizing Bible events and principles and applying them to modern-day living.

Assembly climax will come on Sunday at 3 p.m. when L.E. Reusch delivers the address, "When all Nations Collide Head-On With God."

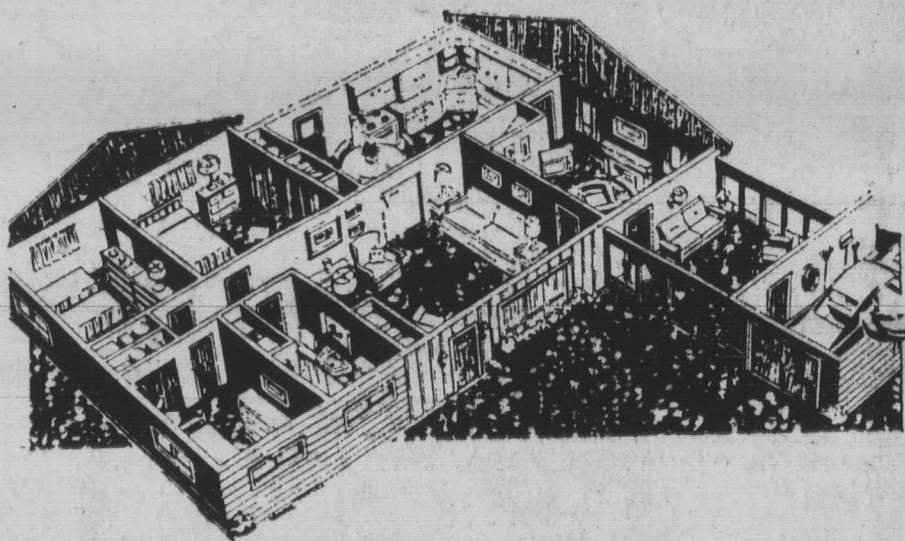

Francis Malespina, circuit supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses in Daly City, said that the five-day program is free, open to the public and no collections will be taken.

Fee Approved for College Health Plan

The San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees Wednesday approved a day student health services fee of $3.75 per semester for the coming school year.

The fee, which is being tried on a one-year experimental basis, will cover the cost of campus health services and emergency student accident and health insurance. The service has been free to students.

The fee will reportedly bring in about $103,000, compared to an estimated district expenditure of $165,000 for such services.

Several trustees voiced interest in how actual health services on the district's three campuses would be improved by the fee.

It was disclosed that there will be little if any improvement in such services for the students. The major thrust of the fee will go to financing emergency insurance, district officials said.

District Business Manager Matteo Fasanaro admitted that the field of student health has been typically neglected by most junior college districts, although some (City College of San Francisco for one) have made some strides in this area, he said.

During the year's trial period, the trustees have ordered the administration to study the district's student health programs and see if they can be improved.

The new board chairman, Mrs. Eleanore Nettle, was particularly anxious that board members be made aware of any weaknesses or strengths existing in the district's student health programs.

S.S.F. Wants Own Road

South San Francisco councilmen want an audience with county supervisors to discuss a future cross-town road project, one that will serve South San Francisco, not Daly City.

At last week's council meeting, Councilman Warren Steinkamp became concerned that the county wanted to extend Hickey Boulevard.

Steinkamp said he would rather see money for a possible Hickey Boulevard extension go for further extension of Westborough Boulevard, along (present) Chestnut Avenue to Hillside Boulevard.

"If South San Francisco is going to provide a cross-town lateral, let's have it serve South San Francisco, not Daly City," said Steinkamp.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach was instructed to write a letter to the supervisors for a meeting date.

City Engineer Lou Goss reported on Westborough Boulevard costs. He said the portion from Skyline Boulevard to Junipero Serra came to $716,655, with the city paying $259,300. The section from Junipero Serra to El Camino Real, now under construction, is estimated to cost $1,135,127, with the city providing $31,466 from gas tax monies.

New Trustee Welcomed

The woman's touch was much in evidence at last week's reorganization meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Mrs. Beverly Forrester was seated as the board's second woman member, and for the occasion the usual rows of spectators' chairs in the board room were gone, replaced by round tables for four.

Over 50 friends of newly elected Mrs. Forrester and re-elected trustee Ed Tomasello filled the room. Most were able to sit at the tables, which were decorated with long stemmed carnations and other flowers.

Bruno Camp Registration

San Bruno's first resident camp is accepting registration.

San Bruno boys and girls, 9 to 12 years old, are invited to attend Hidden Villa Camp in the Los Altos Hills area, several miles from Foothill College and Adobe Creek Lodge.

The camping activities will include games, horseback riding, crafts, swimming, hiking, folk dancing, singing, cookouts, and overnight trips, campfires and sleeping out, according to recreation supervisor Andrew Ruiz of the San Bruno Recreation Department.

All-Day Variety in Menu

Just a little imagination is needed to see many ways in which hot dog rolls and hamburger buns can be used—other than the way they got their names.

"Breakfast on a bun," served buffet style on the porch or patio, includes orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon on frankfurter rolls and sausage patties and scrambled eggs on hamburger bun, milk and hot coffee. It's easy to fix, and the sandwiches can be toted along to be eaten on the way to work or play if desired.

For lunch those extra buns and rolls can be turned into attractive "boats" or "shells" for a variety of uses. For a buffet supper the round hamburger bun can quickly be turned into a miniature pizza or the hot dog roll into a delightful baked delicacy.

The breakfast menu can be varied in many ways: corned beef burgers may be used instead of the sausage and eggs; link sausages, beef patties, Canadian bacon, ham, bologna, deviled ham, minute beef steaks, dried (chipped) beef, fish burgers or any kind of canned or deli-luncheon meats may be served on a bun, with or without the scrambled eggs.

SCRAMBLED EGGS

Break eggs into a bowl, allowing 1 tablespoon per egg of milk or coffee cream, add salt and pepper to taste; beat slightly with a fork (for white and gold effect do not blend completely). Heat butter or margarine in skillet over medium heat; add egg mixture; reduce heat to low and stir cooked portions gently with spatula from bottom and sides of pan; do NOT overcook (eggs should be moist and glossy when done). Spoon onto split buns that have been buttered and toasted lightly; add sausage patties to other half of hamburger rolls, bacon to the long buns; serve at once. (Allow 2 eggs per serving for each bun-wich.)

NOTE: For creamy scrambled eggs, cook above mixture in top of double broiler over simmering, not hot water, stirring occasionally until eggs are thick and creamy.

Variations

To egg mixture add chopped fresh herbs—chives, parsley, tarragon, chervil or basil; or add a dash of curry; or substitute sour cream and add a dash of lemon-parsley salt.

Saute fresh or canned mushrooms (1 or 2 tablespoons per egg) and a dash of seasoned salt; combine leftover ham scraps with scrambled eggs, or sauteed pieces of dried (chipped) beef; add a table spoon grated cheddar cheese per egg, or 2 tablespoons creamed cottage cheese with a dash of Angostura bitters.

SAUSAGE PATTIES

Shape sausage meat between palms of hands (wet hands to keep from sticking); place sausage in cold skillet and cook over low heat until lightly browned, about 12 to 15 minutes. Turn with spatula, pouring sausage cakes in 375 degree oven in open pan until done, turning once to brown. Never prick sausage with fork. Drain on paper towels.

For lunch remove tops from and long buns; hollow out centers leaving firm sides and bottoms (freezing the rolls makes hollowing them out easier, let thaw, brush with melted butter and toast until delicately browned in hot oven).

HAM AND ASPARAGUS BUNS
Roll well drained spear of canned asparagus in thin slice of ham; place 2 or 3 ham-asparagus rolls in each hollowed out long roll; sprinkle with buttered crumbs; dot with mustard-mayonnaise; top with grated sharp cheese and place under broiler until lightly browned.

CHICKEN SALAD IN A BUN
Fill hollowed out and toasted round buns with chicken salad; top each with a tablespoon of chutney; serve with tomato aspic on lettuce leaves.

FOR SUPPER

For a soup and sandwich supper, serve tomato soup topped with dollops of dairy sour cream and miniature pizzas.

PIZZA - BURGERS

On a greased cookie sheet place split hamburger rolls, flatten into thin circles with back of tablespoon; pinch up small rim; spread with softened butter or margarine and cover with tomato sauce; top with thin slice of cheese and any luncheon meat.

Thriller Merits Applause

By ROBERT BURMISTER

Some very good things happen in the Hillbarn Theater's production of "Night Must Fall." The actors are well prepared and make good characters on stage, often providing very convincing relationships between themselves. Director Bob Day moves his characters well through the set. And the set, designed by Dick Rees, is entirely appropriate to the style of the play and the characters seem very much to belong there.

Playwright Emyln Williams gives the director of this play a difficult situation to master: In order to make the events of Act III seem logical and believable, the director must clearly plant the seeds of character contradiction early in the play.

He has to do this from his own imagination because the play's text doesn't help much. The central character in the play is Dan. In the first half of the play he is so suave and controlled that it comes as too much of a surprise when he suddenly lapses into his violent psychosis. Similarly Olivia, the niece of the mistress of the house, is too frigid and reserved for too long to let the wealth of passion she releases in the last act seem a believable outcome of her character.

If the playwright falls short of making these consequences clear from his text, then the director must take over with his own creativity. Day could give the play more reality by using his own imagination as freely as necessary.

Muriel Rice as Mrs. Bramson, and Marian Sinton as Mrs. Terence, her cook, were both in full command of their roles. Their performances were of high caliber and delightful and absorbing to watch.

The schizophrenic character of Dan was played by Derek Charnley. As the "normal" Dan, Charnley was charming, compelling and believable. As the psychotic Dan, however, he was not so convincing. He did not sustain a feeling of real agony but lapsed often into mere self-pity. With more of a sense of real torture, both halves of Dan would have been equally strong.

Judi Durham played her first role at Hillbarn as Mrs. Bramson's niece, Olivia. It is perhaps a bit ambitious for a first role as she is obliged to convey so many conflicts within herself: even a seasoned actress would have her hands full. As the play continues, Miss Durham seems to find Olivia's character more and more clearly. This will no doubt continue with each performance. It is a difficult role and Miss Durham makes a good start with the company.

Frank Prendergrast's characterization of the Scotland Yard inspector is quite solid. Its only fault comes from a little stiffness in timing his responses to other characters' lines and actions.

New Treat for Picnics

A hearty sandwich for outdoor feasts has been developed by Hunt-Wesson kitchens to introduce its new Big John's two-can pack of beans 'n fixins'.

A crusty French roll hollowed out to accommodate a frankfurter is the hull for the "Sailboat Sandwich." Here's the recipe for a picnic luncheon for eight.

BIG JOHN'S

SAILBOAT SANDWICHES

8 (5-inch) individual French rolls
 8 frankfurters, split in half lengthwise
 1 (2-can) pack, 20 1/4 ounces, beans 'n fixin's
 4 slices process American cheese, cut in half diagonally

Cut about 1/2-inch thick slice from top of each roll; scoop out lower section of roll to within 1/4-inch of edge. Place one frankfurter, cut side down, in bottom of each roll. Mix contents of Hunt's Big John's beans 'n fixin's can and spoon over franks. Replace roll tops. Wrap in foil; place on baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees 20 to 25 minutes or until heated through. Garnish each with "cheese sail" made by inserting bamboo skewer in each cheese half. Serve hot.

Incidentally, Hunt-Wesson has promised to plant a tree in a national forest in honor of the sender for every Big John pack label that is sent in.

Ringside View Of The Pacific Ocean At Nick's

Ships' wheels, lanterns, anchors, and life rings are among the accoutrements that establish the nautical charm at Nick's restaurant, which offers every diner a ringside view of the beautiful Pacific Coastside and the Pacific Ocean. The cuisine is entirely different (continental is the word,) and it features, of course, sea food, as well as other menu favorites. Floodlights give the spectacular Rockaway Beach surf a fluorescent glow at night. Located on the lower level of this two-story building is Nick's Papagayo Room, where an authentic Mexican theme is carried out. Across the street and also located along the shores of Rockaway Beach is Nick's Restaurant and the Sea Breeze Motel. There is an air of casual refinement and friendliness at Scotty Campbell's, the Redwood City award-winning restaurant which is owned and operated by gracious Mary Lou Francis and Theresa and Bud Urban. Their courteous reception of your party is a fair index to your dining experience here. Scotty Campbell's is well regarded for its prime ribs of beef and "steaks the way you like them." Other suggestions include Double Cut French Lamb Chops, Broiled Australian Lobster Tails and Scampi — Deep Water Shrimp.

BUCK OWENS and his Buckaroos, Susan Raye, Buddy Allan, Kennie Huskey, and The Bakersfield California Brass are scoring big with country and western fans in the Circus Room at John Ascuaga's Nugget, Sparks, Nevada. Owens, who has written and recorded a steady flow of singles and albums for Capitol, is a powerful draw everywhere he appears in the U.S. and abroad. The Buck Owens Show will be appearing in two shows nightly (special third shows in Saturday night) through July 28.

Doros Attracts Hollywood Stars

Don Dianda meets many stars from Hollywood as well as political and financial figures when they lunch or dine at Doros in San Francisco. The superb Holiday Magazine award-winning cuisine and rare wines attracts the gourmets. Since the 1920's, A. Sabella's restaurant at Fisherman's Wharf has served delicious seafood and subtle-flavored Italian dishes. Crab and fish require an expert's hand in preparation if they are to retain their flavor of the sea. This touch is found at A. Sabella's. Guests also have an unobstructed view of the entire Fisherman's Wharf and its bustling activities. Park Avenue Tours, with four conveniently located offices in the Bay Area, offers a variety of package trips to South Lake Tahoe guaranteed to be money-savers. Regardless of the method of transportation, private auto or Greyhound Bus, you're sure to receive a trip-ending bonus as well as a variety of refunds. Park Avenue also offers a Summer drive-up package to Reno, with both one and two night stays being available. For more information regarding trips to either Lake Tahoe or Reno, contact your nearest Park Avenue Tours office.

Shadows Reopens Thursday

The Shadows of San Mateo has been dark for the past few days, as owner Dave Rasmussen and his crew are off on their annual Summer vacations. Dave probably headed North for a few days of work at his sprawling ranch in Eastern Oregon. The Shadows reopens for business on Thursday. It's back to work Monday for Frank Fabbro and his crew of veteran employees at Fabbro's in Redwood City. After a two-week vacation for all concerned, the restaurant reopens for business at lunchtime. The Leaning Tower's Lou Ercoli is guilty of having a smug look on his face — and it is any wonder: this pro-football addict is one of the fortunate few to already have tickets for the '71 49er season at Candlestick Park. One thing for sure — Lou didn't know he had so many friends who cared for football. If it's Monday and you happen to need a haircut or a trim, drop by Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn in South San Francisco. The barber shop here, which also specializes in styling, is one of the few shops in the area to have open doors on Mondays.

Heinz Gremelin Hyatt House Chef

Indonesian Spring Lamb is just one of many specialties prepared by executive chef Heinz Gremelin at Hugo's, a plush dining room in Hyatt House Burlingame. Heinz marinates this tasty dish with a variety of Indonesian spices. Before and after-dinner cocktails in the adjacent Hugo's Bistro are mixed to the tunes of Three's Company, a trio loaded with talent. At Charley Brown's in Redwood City, where almost every table provides a scenic view of the nearby Municipal Marina, general manager Robert Tellez has introduced a sumptuous-appearing, yet reasonably priced, Sunday Brunch. Service is from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Although it's the steaks and other menu items that attract diners to Roy Devincenzi's Golden Steer in Redwood City, there's a rousing-style of pianobar entertainment headed up by vivacious Vicki Farrell. Join her songfests in the lounge, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

Ray And Clare Stern's For Body Beautiful

For those of you who are on a "health kick," there's absolutely no better way to keep in shape than by being a member of Ray and Clare Stern's Health Spa located in the Stonestown Mall. Here, you will find everything that goes to make the body beautiful. By following The Stern's health pattern you may lose five inches and five pounds in only five days or your money back on the sixth day. Yours Truly has been a spa member for six years, and I am happy to pass along this bit of information to help you keep fit and trim. Also, there is a restaurant and beverage counter available. Phone 661-8400 and you're in. Margie Brandon, Clancy's vivacious organist and your Bright Lighter's nomination for "Miss San Francisco," knows most of the "Who's Who" of San Francisco on a first-name basis. As well she should, since the bubbly Brandon has been performing at various niteries in the City for several years. Margie now happily presides at Clancy's pianobar nightly, Wednesdays through Sundays, imparting her incredible repertoire of songs and stories.

POPULAR Jose Feliciano, the blind, 25-year-old Puerto Rican who has developed a complex style of passionate involvement, will project his unique vocal and instrumental virtuosity in the Camelot Theater of Kings Castle July 17-25. Jose captivates his listeners with an endless magic of jazz, pop ballads, rock, blues, country or Spanish folk.

"Hello, Dolly" Finocchio Hit

A colorful new show based on the theme of "Hello, Dolly," featuring some of the top songs from the world-famous musical, is a nightly attraction at Finocchio's. The nightly presentation is in addition to the regular revue, which has attracted visitors from all over the world. All the old time stars are in the "Dolly" production, plus such new performers as Mr. Holly White, just back in the States after a tour of Europe, and Estuardo, a fiery and talented dancer from Mexico. Directing the show is Joel Nobel, from New York and Paris. Small, medium or large pizzas — all can be had on short notice to take out from Romano's Italian restaurant, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Owned and operated by Enrico Romano, this superb Italian food dining spot is where many go for family dining at moderate prices. The Belmont Prime Rib, which recently introduced a complete new dinner menu, is also a popular luncheon spot for local businessmen. Incidentally, plankman John Piazzo blends a martini just the way you like it.

Oreste's Oil Paintings

Day and night, leaders of the Bay Area's business and political life may be seen dining in the elegant surroundings of Oreste's restaurant in San Francisco. Famous as the West's home of tasty, Continental dishes, Oreste's is richly decorated with fine Italian oil paintings and racks of wine bottles. Open Tuesdays through Fridays for luncheon and dinner; Saturdays for dinners only. If your group is planning a party of any type, call Joe Piccinini for reservations and arrangements. South American specialties of the house are still the featured attraction at Frank and Fannie Torres Beach restaurant, located just south of Devil's Slide in Montara, on Coast Highway One. Frank and Fannie have been offering these delicacies for many years to satisfied customers, who return time and again for more. Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina district, remains one of San Francisco's most popular spots for special occasion parties. Among those celebrating: Dr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis, who marked their twenty-third wedding anniversary with a gala dinner party.

Vince's Restaurant Reopens

After a well-deserved rest, Vince Licata and his gang are back at Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant. Don't know where dapper Vince spent his vacation, but you can be certain that he and his family enjoyed a relaxing few days away from the daily chore of operating one of the most successful dining establishments in the Bay Area. Diners may expect to find authentic English food and drinks at the splendid Lord Fletcher Inn, Atherton. Such menu delights as Old Fashioned English-style Pot Roast and Welsh Rarebit (with bacon, on English Muffin, made with London Ale) draw lavish praise. The bar even serves London's famous Watney's Red Barrel Light Ale. Songstress Lori English, backed by the great sounds of the Future Trend, has to be one of the best entertainment attractions to hit the Peninsula. Now appearing in the Golden Rooster Lounge at South San Francisco's Redwood Inn, Lori captivates audiences with her vocal artistry from 9 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Billy Rose, famed TV and radio personality, just returned from a six-weeks tour of Ireland, England and Holland, and made a bee-line for the Steakery in downtown San Francisco. Over a Steak Shalot dinner, he beamed to host Phil Lehr, "Best dinner I've had in six weeks."

'The Wrong People Were in Government'

Our ping-pong team accomplished, I'm sure you all know by now, What our heads of state could not do, Break the ice with Chairman Mao So that started me to thinking, That lo, these many, many years, The wrong people were in government, Responsible for our doubts and fears Now, I offer you my own list For a new breed of candidates, Whom I'm sure could do a better job To open the peace and friendship gates For President Walter O'Malley, Who is always the leader, I feel, Vice President, Stan the Man, He'd keep things on an even keel Secretary of State, Bud Wilkinson, Who could better fill the bill? Secretary of the Navy, Roger Staubach, He'd give the Waves a thrill Secretary of Defense, Dick Nolan, Like Brodie, no one could harm me, Joint Chiefs of Staff boss, Arnold Palmer, With his famous Arnie's Army Press Secretary, Casey Stengel, He'd give the media a test, Presidential Advisor, Yogi Berra, In world affairs no doubt the best, Secretary of the Treasury, Alcindor, r even Maravich, maybe, 'Course when it comes to money matters, you can pick any bonus baby Supreme Court - unpires and referees, You know they're held in high esteem, Attorney General - no problem, There's a clubhouse lawyer on every team Health, Education and Welfare, That's easy, you won't be stunned, Health: Maricheal; Education: Frank Ryan; Welfare: head of the player's pension fund If sex education became a U.S. Law, Joe Namath would be my choice, Heading the White House news team, How about Howard Cosell's revolting voice? For Ambassador to the Orient We could put Lon Simmons to good use, And though the language may be a barrier, He could employ his Japanese masseuse Ambassador to Italy, DiMaggio With Franklin Mieuli on his staff, Garagiola could be added, To give the paisanos a laugh FBI chief, Jim Bouton, At snooping there's none better, Secret Service, Frank Costti, Unobtrusiveness fits him to the letter Speaker of the House, Jim Ray Hart, His eloquence cannot be denied, Alex Johnson, Good Will Ambassador, That's what I would decide Chief of Protocol Leo Durocher, His savoir faire is well known, Food and Drugs Ad., Billy Casper, Of buffalo meat renown I'm sure that you can add to this, In so many, many ays, Like, Senior Citizen Liaison, Who ele but Willie Mays? We have a lot other ideas We think might be first rate, But space won't allow it, So we'll write more at a later date NOW THAT WE'RE ON the poetry kick, we might as well make it complete by telling you something you've always been dying to know — the history behind the most famous sports poem of them all, "Casey at the Bat." One nit in New York, an actor named De Wolf Hopper, then appearing in a comic opera, was told that some members of the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox would be in the audience, and Hopper thought it would be hospitable to do something in their honor. A novelist friend of Hopper's, Archibald Clevering Gunter (he had exhausted his creative talent making up his name), suggested he do a recitation of a poem entitled "Casey at the Bat," a copy of which he just so happened to have in his wallet. Hopper, obviously a quick study, committed it to memory just before the curtain went up (what a Hollywood scenario THIS would have made), and the rest, as they say, is history. Hopper not only transformed the simple poem into baseball lore, but it is a good bet that his fame as an actor would never have endured into the 20th century had it not been for his numerous recitations of "Casey at the Bat."

AS FOR ERNEST LAWRENCE THAYER, who wrote the poem (it first appeared in the San Francisco Examiner on Sunday, June 3, 1888, squeezed between an editorial and Ambrose Bierce's column), he slipped into further obscurity, and if he ever had another poem published or recited, history, so far as we know, doesn't record it.

But then, Thayer really didn't need prominence. He had money. A Harvard man, (he edited the famous Lamppoon) he was the heir to New England woolen mills. Rather than take over the family mill when he graduated, however, he beckoned to the call of a former classmate to "come west, young man." (Incidentally, Horace Greeley never said that, one of his editorial writers did), and this he did to work for his drop-out friends William Randolph Hearst, on the struggling young newspaper his papa had given him for a present.

Thus at age 25, Thayer wrote the most famous sports poem of them all, as a filler, most likely; became momentarily famous, and eventually, we must presume, returned to the woolen mills, forgotten, if richer.

Endurance

Gary Kaufmann won the junior (scratch) five-game endurance with a score of 1112 at Serra Bowl on July 5.

Mark Lehman won the men's 10-game endurance with a score of 2321.

In the women's division Vicki Kennedy won the 10-game endurance with a score of 1095.

DC's Playgrounds

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
By Steve Roche

Franklin D. Roosevelt had its first tournament of the summer. Entrants in the carrom tournament included Fred Gurr, Ricky Davis, Clay Troxler, Anthony Davila, Marty Sands, and Billy Shea. Marty Sands defeated Clay Troxler in the championship match.

Every Friday at 1 p.m. we have a barbecue, and this week's chef will be Angie Lewis and her great recipe for hot dogs. After each barbecue we have a softball game, which usually includes stars like Ralph Sands, Jeff Baca, Bob Finney, Jerry Lewis, Jimmy Ramsen, Ken Davila, and Clay Troxler.

There are many fun-filled events planned for the summer: physical fitness contests, a track meet, an Indian Softball Tournament, and a baking contest for the girls.

NORTHIDGE PARK

Northridge Park activities were highlighted by a carroms tournament and a display of gymnastics talents.

In carroms, Richard Rogers was defeated by Jim Neligan, while Pat Neligan easily destroyed his brother John's hopes of the title. In the tournament finale, Pat defeated his older championship.

In the gymnastics participation, Susan Kourkoutakis, Jodi Toft, and Bonnie and Cathy Nakamura all showed award-winning gymnastics ability.

OUR LADY OF MERCY

Our Lady of Mercy had a scavenger hunt, and four persons wound up with first and second prize. They were: first place, Mark Pappas, and Nolan Apostole; second place, Dick Galliani and Jim Diggins. Carnival of Drama at Serramonte among Our Lady of Mercy's actors in the event were: Alana Modena, Sandy Cristofani, Sherree Hayden, Chris Parise, Dan Diggins, Mary Diggins, Jim Diggins, Ted Curry, and Renee Garry.

Our Lady of Mercy's and Olympia's combined Bike Day is scheduled for Thursday, July 15. Races, awards, and a picnic will make up the days activities.

OLYMPIA SCHOOL

Another exciting week of events has ended at Olympia Playground, highlighted by a big cookout and preparations for a presentation of the "Wizard of Oz."

The barbecue was truly a great success as seen from the large amount of steaks, hamburgers, and hot dogs cooked on a barbecue kindly donated by Pat and Dee Dee O'Gorman. Olympia's own acting guild has also been busy preparing a short scene from the "Wizard of Oz."

Dee Dee O'Gorman is terrific in her role as Dorothy. Her supporting actors are John Kim as the Tin-Man, Joey O'Gorman as the Scarecrow, and Mike Ghiselli as the Lion. Gary Borghello will play a tree in the forest of Oz surrounded by a group of lovely flowers played by Elizabeth Selig, Laura Rebizzo, and Marchelle Duff. Laure Luna will introduce the play.

PALISADES

Tough competition was noted at Palisades Park in their recent Bicycle Race staged for seven year olds. The Race was dominated by the winner, Danny Piiwan, but all the remaining racers showed a great deal of competitive spirit. Finishing second was the only five-year-old in the race, Joe Matekel. He was followed by Lancy Matekel, Mark Barro, and Alfonso Sola. All the competitors were driving stingray bikes with "high boy power."

Our carrom tournament is still being lead by Hiram Short. Frank Helm currently in second place, is moving up on Hiram quickly. Frank's control will be a true test of Hiram's mastery of the game.

VISTA MAR

So far, signups for the two-man strikeout league has gone well. In a preliminary game, (anything but a pitchers duel) Jim Theuner and Mike Adam defeated Chris Lang and Steve Roche 15-14. The game was marked with inconsistent pitching and strong hitting on both sides.

In ping pong, Bill Hurley was dethroned by Jerry Makmey but a match with his old rival Rich Dela Cruz is imminent.

The weekly "Sorry" game was won by Dean Cimino with the runner-up being Jim Kendall.

JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The special event for the week at Jefferson Elementary School was the hot dog day. Everybody brought hot dogs, buns, potato chips, marshmallows and drinks. Everyone also roasted marshmallows. These who participated were Glen Kinard, Ken Kinard, Warren King, Lisa Goodman, Mark Goodman and John Ferrari.

PANORAMA

A 20-lap Bike Race and an obstacle course were the major events at Panorama School. The speedy team of Tim Farmer, Frank Puccetti, and Mark Morrison, took first place honors.

Cypress Hills Hosts Junior Golf Tourney

Mike Barr of Sanger, Calif., shot an even par 66 on the final round of the Fifth Annual Junior Tournament played at Cypress Hills Golf Course Friday, to become the Cypress Hills Junior Golf Champion and to win over Pat McGowan of Colusa and Jeff Bricker of Mill Valley.

The junior tournament, co-sponsored by the Cypress Hills Golf Club and Daly City Host Lions Club, was organized by tournament chairman Fred Williams who expressed his gratitude to MacRobert Stewart of the Daly City Lions Club, and members and management of the Cypress Hills golf course.

The more than 200 entrants praised refreshments doled-out by the ladies and expressed their gratitude for being invited to participate.

Barr, who swings freely and hits a long ball had some keen competition from MacGowan who finished second, two strokes behind at 136, Jeff Bricker, in with 137, and Greg Schweitzer, Alameda, who had a 138.

Immediately behind Schweitzer, in a four-way tie for fifth place with 140's, were Pat O'Neill and Jim Horsman, both from Daly City, Jeff Rhodenbaugh, Pleasanton, and Paul Hahn, Paso Robles.

The play off for fifth place was won by Paul Hahn.

The enthusiasm displayed by all the golfers was typified in Donald Price of Palo Alto, who took a 20 on one hole on the first day but stuck it out and returned the second day to win second place in the hole-in-one contest.

The hole-in-one contest winner was Dave Hansen, who came within three feet of the pin.

The longest drives were won by Mike Barr (16-17 years) Eric Batten (14-15), Jim O'Malley (12-13) and Marilyn Martyniak (girls).

An up-and-coming young golfer is Dan Armbruster, a 12-year-old from San Mateo who shot a 71 for the first round and had a second round score of 70, for a total of 141.

Most entrants have played in other junior golf tournaments conducted throughout Northern California since the start of the year.

Boys: 16-17 year age flight: Winner, Pat McGowan; first runnerup, Jeff Bricker; second runnerup, Greg Schweitzer; third runnerup, Paul Hahn; fourth runnerup, Pat O'Neill.

Boys: 14-15 year age flight: runnerup, Rick Gordon; second runnerup, Ray Kong; third runnerup, Mike Rubio; fourth runnerup, Kelly Whelan.

Boys: 12-13 year age flight: Winner, Dan Armbruster; first runnerup, Kurt Posey; second runnerup, Dennis Trisler; third runnerup, Rick Anderson; fourth runnerup, Bryan Pini.

Boys: 10-11 year age flight: Winner, Charlie Dyer; first runnerup, Jim Fisher; second runnerup, Mike Modesto; third runnerup, Greg Allio; fourth runnerup, Ed Luetheke.

Girls: Winner, Barbara Vetrano; first runnerup, Pat Cornet.

Girls: 12 years and under: Winner, Pilar Dorado; first runnerup, Karen Whiten.

Joe DiMaggio League came away with a better than even break over the weekend. Coach Bob Roselli's crew, in a practice game, battled San Bruno of the North Peninsula Joe DiMaggio League to a 3-3 tie at Fitzgerald Field Saturday. Jim Ross and Jim Romero combined to limit San Mateo to just four hits during the nine inning affair.

On Sunday, "San Mateo came right back to advance its MPVDL record to 9-0-1 with a 4-0 conquest of San Carlos. Stady Joe Serena yielded four hits while striking out ten and walking only one.
